Drug-Maddened Felons Battle Guards on Train

PRIVATE CAR WRECKED BY CONVICTS

Eight Prisoners Subdued After Fierce Fight; On Way to Pen

CHICAGO, (AP)—Eight rebellious convicts, subdued by their five guards in a riotous battle aboard a speeding train, were whisked off to the Leavenworth penitentiary today.

The felons, seven of them narcotics law violators, were en route from Toledo, Ohio, to the federal prison last night when they suddenly rose in mutiny.

They screamed demands for drugs, fought their warders, hurled glasses and tables, shattered windows and wrecked the interior of their private Pullman car before they were forced into submission.

Notified of the outbreak, 25 Chicago detectives, government narcotics agents and Dr. Leonidas Barry, police surgeon, raced to the La Salle Street terminal. But the mutineers were handcuffed and under control when the train arrived.

Chicago police named the convicts as Henry Hacker, Jerry Mullane, Harry Luzny, Otto Dusing, Alfred Erueyor, Ralph Johnson and two negroes, Richard Smith and Harry Haley.

THREE CONVICTS KILL GUARD AND ESCAPE

RETRIEVE PRISON FARM, Texas, (AP)—Three long-term convicts "jumped" Prison Guard Felix Smith on the state prison farm here today, killed him with his own pistols and fled into dense underbrush on Smith's horse and two mules.

T. N. Atkinson, an habitual criminal sent up for life from Hidalgo county; Luke Trammel, serving 25 years for murder, robbery and other major offenses, and Forrest Gibson, serving 10 years for theft in Limestone county, were the desperadoes who escaped.

Another guard, riding slightly ahead of the work squad, tried to aid Smith but arrived too late to save his life or halt the fleeing convicts.

Gibson made several previous escapes. He was among those who fled from Eastman farm a few years ago when a guard was killed.

LEMKE RUNS ON THIRD PARTY

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Representative Lemke (R-Minn.), announced today he would run for president on a third party ticket.

Lemke, self-styled non-partisan elected to the house from North Dakota on the Republican ticket, is best known in the capital for his advocacy of farm mortgage moratorium and refinancing legislation.

His bill to refinance farm debt at low interest with $3,000,000,000 of new currency was crushed in the house last May after it long had been pigeon-holed by administration forces in committee.

H. S. OWL IN 'DEATH FLIGHT'

Facade of Building Razed

A big, green plaster owl, unswerving and solemn, plunged to the ground today from the top of the Santa Ana High school building. His descent came when the 40-foot brick and cement facade of the structure was yanked down to make room for new construction.

The owl, which has sat atop the building for years, was shattered by the fall.

With a shock resembling an earthquake, the facade of the building crashed to the ground.

The first two attempts to pull down the enormous mass of cement, brick, and plaster failed as a small cable snapped near the

Old Age Funds Replacing It

By BOB GUILD

They don't go over the hill to the poorhouse any more.

Beneficent federal, state and county governments have made it possible for folks in their twilight years without funds or children to take care of them to go around the corner to the welfare office instead.

The state old-age security act recently passed by the legislature goes into effect on July 1.

The old folks are dropping in to see Mrs. Belle Spangler, welfare intake officer for the county, at the rate of eight each day. And Director Byron Curry said today there are 745 applicants and "approved" applicants who will commence drawing their $35 a month under the old-age security plan next month.

The principal change in the set-up of old-age relief under the new plan will be that those receiving the old-age pension will be given $35 a month, with income deductible, where under the old-age pension plan formerly in effect the rate of budget pay was "between $20 and $35," depending on the applicant's age, circumstances and other things.

There's plenty of work to be done to get ready for the change, which is being financed 50 per cent by the federal government, 25 per cent by the state, and 25 per cent by the county.

In the first place all existing old-age relief cases must be shifted to the new budgets, which entails considerable bookkeeping changes.

Then every new applicant must be interviewed by Mrs. Spangler, on eligibility, and that's a big job. Just ask Mrs. Spangler. She says about her greatest trouble is 4)

MID-WEST IN EXTEND TAXI HEAT'S GRIP CASE PROBE

Grasshoppers, Drought Plague Farmers; Rain In Coast States

By the Associated Press

The Pacific Northwest and the drought-suffering Southwestern states were relieved by rain today, but the showers dodged a domain of heat over the middle plains.

New records for high June temperatures were marked up in scattered hot spots of the Central states, where the mercury rose past the 100-degree level at a midsummer clip.

Ask Government Aid

Farmers turned more seriously to the problems of drought and grasshoppers, and some officials pressed for government aid.

In Kansas, where the mercury reached a top of 110 degrees, police work against grasshoppers has been started in several counties. Farmers in eastern and central portions reported the infestation was the worst of recent years. At McPherson, Kan., merchants swept hoppers out of their ways.

Some Hot Spots

The weather bureau expected a continuation of showers in New England and along the middle-Atlantic coast. Rain fell yesterday on scattered parts of the northern Rocky Mountain region and the Pacific states, and thunder-showers cooled dry regions of Georgia and the Carolinas.

Some of the warmer points yesterday were: Brawley, Calif., 118 degrees; Colby, Kan., 119; Great Bend and Eldorado, Kan., 107; Clinton, Okla., 108; Scottsbluff, Neb., 104, which equalled high for June, and Pueblo, Colo., 103.6.

File Petition to Recall Merriam

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—A petition from Kings county, bearing 93 names seeking the recall of Governor Merriam, qualified today in the secretary of state's office. It will be necessary to obtain 279,567 signatures to petition before a recall election can be placed on the ballot.

Attack on Laguna Driver Duplicated in Long Beach Crime

Sheriff's officers today were probing the possibility that the robbery and shooting of Harold Marshall, 24, Laguna taxi driver, may have been one of a series of similar episodes in Southern California. Marshall was slugged, robbed and shot Tuesday night near Laguna Beach, then thrown from his own taxi.

With one man under arrest, Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Merle Dean and other officers today were pressing a state-wide search for Gerald Vance, 18, sought in connection with the crime. Edgar "Don" DeBord, 18, already is in custody here.

Stolen Pistols

Possibility that Tuesday night's crime may have been one of a series was seen today in the report that a Long Beach taxi driver was slugged and robbed in much the same manner last week. The driver was to come to Santa Ana today to see if he recognized LeBord in the county jail.

A new link in the chain of investigation was forged yesterday when the sheriff's office found that two pistols, one of which is alleged to have been the weapon which injured the Laguna Beach taxicab driver, were stolen from a home in Upland Monday, the day before the shooting in a lonely spot on the Laguna canyon road. The other gun was found in DeBord's car.

Blames Vance

DeBord, tall, thin 18-year-old Texan, under questioning, continued to deny any part in the shooting, although he has admitted being with Vance on Tuesday night.

He blames the robbery and the shooting on Vance, and also says Vance stole the two pistols. DeBord's story is that he and Vance went to an Upland residence Monday to see a friend, and when they found no one Vance entered the house.

Nine Pupils on Picnic Drown

MARION Me., (AP)—Nine children of a school picnic party from Lubec, Me., were believed drowned in Lake Gardner today when a rowboat capsized. Two bodies were recovered and police and firemen were dragging for others. Because of the lake's isolated location, difficulty was experienced in ascertaining details.

Sardine Oil Fee Measure Blasted

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Inability of senate and house tax bill conferees to agree on a senate amendment placing a tariff on sardine oil destroyed the last hope of California interests seeking enactment of legislation restricting operations of floating reduction boats on the high seas.

CRASH PROVES FATAL FOR S.A. MAN

Negligent Homicide Count Against Driver In Gonzales Case

Killed in county traffic accidents so far this year..... 28
Killed in county traffic accidents same time last year..... 26

Highway Death, the specter which already has claimed 27 lives in Orange county in 1936, reached slowly for James Bernard Summers, 54, of 319 East Second street, injured June 12 when his car crashed into a telephone pole on Bushard road south of Talbert. Summers died yesterday, the twenty-eighth county traffic casualty this year.

Homicide Charge

Meanwhile Adam Sepulveda, 22, Corona, asserted driver of another car involved in a fatal accident, faced charges of negligent homicide today. Frank Gonzales, Corona, was in the Sepulveda automobile which overturned on Placentia-Yorba boulevard Monday. An inquest into the death of Gonzales, which followed on Wednesday, is still pending.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace K. E. Morrison, Sepulveda has denied guilt of the negligent homicide charge. He was returned to jail in default of $10,000 bail.

Blinded By Lights

Death of Summers was caused by internal injuries, possibly sustained when he was thrown against the steering wheel of his automobile. Traveling alone in his car early on the morning of June 12, Summers was either blinded by approaching headlights or crowded off the road by a passing car, relatives reported.

He was taken to Huntington Beach by Clayton Rich, Whittier, who was passing, and then returned to Santa Ana in a taxicab. Not until he reached home did he complain of injuries. He was taken to Orange county hospital, where he died yesterday afternoon.

An inquest will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at Harrell and Brown funeral home, Coroner Earl Abbey said today.

Insurance Racket Probe Spreads

A hint that the Los Angeles "insurance racket" investigations may reach into Orange county was found today, as Deputy District Attorney Charles Griffin of Los Angeles made an inquiry at the sheriff's office here.

Griffin asked for a check of local accidents to see whether a Henry Groselove had been involved in any accidents in Orange county in the past year.

San Quentin, (AP)—Louis N. Gosden, 32, convicted of poisoning his wife, was hanged at the prison today while his attorney made frantic efforts to obtain a reprieve because of new evidence he said he had discovered.

The hanging apparently was delayed four minutes while prison officials awaited a telephone call from Gov. Frank F. Merriam at Los Angeles.

Ex-Tustin Woman Recalls Riding First Train Into S.A.

By PAUL BODENHAMER

It was a big day in Santa Ana when, back in 1877, the first railroad train entered the city. It was also a big day in the life of Mrs. Zibee O. Field, for it brought her and her husband and baby daughter, Clara, to their new home in Tustin.

Visiting old friends and relatives in Tustin yesterday on her second visit in the 48 years since she left that city, Mrs. Field recalled her arrival.

"It was a construction train with one passenger coach. My late husband, his brother Leroy Field, Leroy's wife, Hannah, their daughter Lila Grace and our baby, Clara

Failure to Collect 'Gas' Tax Laid on Riley's Head

CONTROLLER IS RAPPEL BY BOARD

More Than $2,000,000 in Fees Outstanding, They Assert

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—The state board of equalization, embroiled in the assembly liquor inquiry, rapped State Controller Ray L. Riley today for assertedly failing to collect more than $2,000,000 in gasoline taxes.

Riley, ex-officio member of the board, who has criticized its liquor licensing policies, answered that the task of collection under law had been turned over to the attorney general.

Collins Hurls Bombshell

The gas tax bombshell was hurled by Board Chairman Richard E. Collins of Redding, who declared:

"By far the most serious situation confronting the state and one of much greater importance to the legislature than some matters they are now investigating is the fact that $2,138,966.18 in gasoline tax money collected by the board of equalization to the state controller for collection has not been collected.

"This amazing state of affairs, although repeatedly called to the attention of Mr. Riley, has brought no response."

Others Pack Collins

Coveted with the delinquent gasoline taxes, said Collins, is another sum of $352,888.90, representing delinquent taxes and penalties under the old highway transportation tax between 1927 and 1933.

Collins was joined in his declaration by other members of the board here to testify today before the assembly committee. They are Ray Edgar of El Centro, Fred E. Stewart of Oakland and John C. Corbett of San Francisco.

Riley sharply replied: "It is not my job to collect these taxes. The law provides that we turn these things over to the attorney general for collection, and I am satisfied that everything possible is being done to collect them."

MERRIAM REFUSES TO TALK AT LIQUOR PROBE

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Gov. Frank Merriam appeared at today's session of the assembly audit-finance committee, investigating liquor control, and said he would not "dignify with an answer" the question of whether he was heard to say he was taking advice from Mrs. Helen Werner, queen-pin of Los Angeles politics.

His presence at the hearing, and the drafting of a statement avowing the innocence of the late Elwood Squires, who died in Sacramento, delayed evidence taking today.

Seek Internment Of Zioncheck

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The District of Columbia commissioners filed a petition in court today asking that Rep. Marion A. Zioncheck of Washington be interned in St. Elizabeth's hospital (an institution for mental and nervous cases).

The commissioners contended Zioncheck was insane. The representative has been under mental observation at Gallinger hospital here more than two weeks.

2000-year-old Explosion Of Tiny Star Is Viewed on Earth for the First Time

WILLIAMS BAY, Wis. (AP)—A new star which blazed up suddenly in the sky last night is exploding at the rate of 500 miles a second. Dr. Otto Struve, director of Yerkes observatory of the University of Chicago, reported today.

Before some mysterious force started the stellar blast, Dr. Struve said, the star was of the fifteenth magnitude, and could be seen only in powerful telescopes. Astronomers' sky maps of 1930 identified it at that size.

As a result of the explosion, the star brightened to the magnitude of 2 1/2 by last night, Dr. Struve added. Tonight, he said, it would be still brighter.

Although the light of the explosion reached the earth only last night, the star actually "blew up" some 2000 or 3000 years ago, Dr. Struve declared. This is true, he explained, because the star is so far away.

The star can be seen, Dr. Struve said, "on the boundary line" between the constellations Cepheus and La Certe in the milky way, directly overhead in the early morning.

AMATEUR ASTRONOMER REPORTS IT FIRST

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., (AP)—Astronomers in many parts of the world reported the discovery today of a nova, or new star, which has flared into sudden brilliance far away in interstellar space.

Astronomers at Harvard and other observatories made hurried computations of its motion and Harvard scientists said early studies indicated the velocity of the explosion at a thousand kilometers a second.

The star appeared in the milky way, in the constellation of Cepheus. To the naked eye, it seemed of medium brightness—about halfway between the faintest and the brightest stars.

The first report to reach Dr. Harlow Shapley, director of the Harvard observatory, came from L. C. Peltier of Delphos, Ohio, a garage employee and one of the world's most distinguished amateur astronomers. About the (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

GOVERNOR SADDENED BY SQUIRES' DEATH

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Gov. Frank F. Merriam received news with sorrow today of the death in Sacramento of Elwood Squires, assistant secretary of the state board of equalization.

"That is too bad. He was a fine fellow," he said.

The governor said the effect of the death of Squires on the assembly finance audit committee investigating alleged state liquor control abuses is "entirely up to the investigating committee. I have nothing to do with it."

"Squires' death will not halt the investigation," said Assemblyman Ralph W. Evans, committee chairman.

Mercury Boils at 118 in Brawley

BRAWLEY, (AP)—Sun-scathed Imperial valley waited today for a break in the heat wave. Yesterday 118 degrees was registered. The all-time record is 120.

BOARD PLANS TO ACQUIRE LANDS

Army Engineers Ready For Construction of Flood Projects

Surveys of the terrain for the construction of Orange county's $13,000,000 flood control program will be started immediately, a local bond election for approximately $2,000,000 to provide rights of way will be called in the near future, and work on the construction of the first unit of the gigantic project will be under way by Jan. 1, 1937!

These were the probabilities that developed today. Orange county will have another chance to launch the big program by approving the bond issue when it comes up.

This was definitely confirmed today by members of the board of supervisors, on their return from Los Angeles where they conferred yesterday with members of the war department engineering corps relative to the start of the project.

To Lessen Cost

The army is ready to go on the project. The bill making possible the expenditure of the vast sum in this county has been promised the President's signature and the board has promised action in providing the rights-of-way.

Re-appraisal of the land involved in the county's purchase probably will lower the cost of the county's participation in the program to less than $2,000,000, one member of the board predicted today. An appraisal figure of $3,500,000 was reached in 1929.

To Buy Land

The building program itself, under the war department set-up, will be a three-year one, with work to be launched first on the Santa Ana canyon Prado dam, the largest unit of the entire flood-control plan. Seven other dams, as well as new river channels and spreading points will be built by the army.

The county's additional land buy land up to the 1916 flood level, it was explained today, and probably will provide flood easements or flood insurance for protection beyond that point. The necessity for any further protection was termed a "remote possibility."

Ask Re-appraisal

The bond proposal turned down twice by county voters last year contained the $3,500,000 appraisal figure for rights-of-way, reached on appraisal with 1929 valuation. A natural decrease of property values will cut this sum considerably.

A member of the board today said he would insist on revaluation of the entire property involved, with the expectation of saving virtually an additional million dollars in that way.

First Move Tuesday

Officials of the war department yesterday said surveys of the land involved will be started as soon as the county gives indication of its intention of purchasing the rights-of-way.

Members of the board of supervisors will take first steps in that direction at Tuesday's meeting of the board, when they are expected to take steps for the appraisal, to be followed by the bond election as soon as a figure is reached.

Talmadge Passes Up Convention

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—Gov. Eugene Talmadge, of Georgia, has cancelled his reservation of rooms at a Philadelphia hotel for himself and friends at the Democratic national convention, it was learned today.

Governor Talmadge at Atlanta announced he will not attend the convention.

STEAMER WINS DEATH RACE Sinks After Unloading 1400

DETROIT, (AP)—The excursion steamer Tashmoo, with water flowing through a gaping hole in her side, won a race with death early today while 1400 passengers danced to the music of a swing band and members of the engine room "black gang" stoked boiler fires with water swirling around them.

The 306-foot vessel struck a rock half a mile from the main ship channel in the lower Detroit river on the return trip of a "moonlight cruise." Ten minutes later the ship reached Amherstburg, Ont., and began to sink in 18 feet of water at the dock.

"I felt a shock," said Capt. Donald McAlpine, veteran Great Lakes seaman. "I rang the alarm room and they told me a hole had been stove in her bottom just aft the boiler room. We set the power pumps working and decided to run for the nearest port. There was no confusion and no excitement. The crew performed wonderfully and few of the passengers knew anything was wrong."

NEW BOOKLET ABOUT S. A. ISSUED

Chamber Compiles Facts
In 50-Page Volume
Released Today

Containing 50 pages of condensed information on Santa Ana, its population, its climate, its income, business, history, and points of interest, the "fact book" of the Santa Ana chamber of commerce was distributed to members today.

Copies also will be placed in the city library, courthouse and city hall for reference. It was announced. As changes occur, substitution pages will be issued to chamber members to keep the survey up to date.

Even Climate
Poncho, a peon figure created by Miss Beatrice Holly of Laguna, made his debut here in the issue, providing decoration on the cover and on inside pages. He will become a familiar figure on other chamber of commerce publications, the fact book revealed.

Temperature tables show an equable range from an average low of 45 degrees in November to an average high of 85 in July and August, based on records of Knox and Stout. The book shows an average rainfall of 12.55 inches over 27 years.

Varied Information
Assembled in the volume is information on assessed valuation, associations and clubs, principal buildings, city and county governments and officers, churches, lodges, hospitals, federal offices, public utilities, and schools.

Data was compiled largely by Ruth Lykke, chamber of commerce office secretary, and checked and assembled by Jack Snow, statistician, who gave voluntary aid.

Snoozer's Snores On Housetop Are Stopped by Cops

A real fresh-air bed for these warm days was found yesterday by William Gorman.

It was W. G. McKee's roof, and McKee didn't like the idea of having his roof used for a bed. He told police officers so. At McKee's house, 305 1/2 Spurgeon street, officers said they found Gorman, slumbering quietly, and escorted him to the county jail to continue his nap. He was charged with drunkenness.

WAGE BOOST POSSIBLE

Increase in WPA wages to the "prevailing" wage rate of Orange and other counties looms only as a possibility, Dan Mulherson, county WPA manager, reported today.

A bulletin received this morning from George White, district director, San Diego, stated: "The prevailing wage rate in the San Diego district is $4.00 per hour. It is possible that the rate in the Santa Ana district may be increased to $4.00 per hour. It provides a schedule under which projects will be conducted for the final week of June in the change is made."

Same Monthly Wage
Common labor on WPA projects here receives $48 per month for 120 hours work, at 40 cents per hour. "Prevailing" rates as listed here call for from 50 to 56 cents per hour, indicating an increase of from 20 to 40 per cent in the hour rate.

Unless some change is made also in budgetary limits for workmen, the same monthly security wage of $48 per month will remain, workers spending fewer hours per month at the higher rate of pay, Mulherson said.

Would Boost Cost
Two principal effects of the proposed change, it was pointed out, would be to give WPA workmen more chance to find other occupations, and to make more jobs available under WPA.

Costs of projects may be increased as much as 35 per cent if the wage increase is decided upon, it was indicated.

Mulherson today had no further word on the proposal, and said he did not know when a decision will be reached. In the meantime, he said, project hours for the balance of the month will be adjusted as suggested by White.

Schedule Told
Projects with pay periods starting the first or sixteenth of the month will be unchanged, and will commence under the new schedule July 1. Those with periods commencing the twenty-sixth will be closed from June 26 to 30, resuming July 1.

Lions to Install Officers Tonight

Santa Ana Lions will install their new officers tonight at an informal dinner-dance at Santa Ana Country club.

New officers to be installed are: R. R. Hays, Jr., president; Don Jerome, first vice president; Logan Jackson, second vice president; Don Dearth, third vice president; John Henderson, secretary; John McCarty, treasurer; Carl Stein, lion tamer; Dale Deckert, tall twister; and C. W. Hill and William Wells, directors.

TAX BILL IS ALL SET FOR RATIFYING

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A newly-shaped tax plan designed to raise $800,000,000 through penalty taxes on undivided corporation profits and other major revisions of the revenue structure aroused emphatic dissent among some senators today, but administration leaders said it would go through congress Saturday night.

They expected President Roosevelt would welcome the plan, which was agreed upon in a senate-house conference committee last night. It goes far to meet his demands for stiff taxes to induce corporations to distribute more income to stockholders and for additional taxation on dividends.

The conference agreement must now be ratified by both chambers. No filibuster was predicted, and administration leaders hoped to pass the bill in time to adjourn congress late Saturday night.

TAX PLAN TO BE AIRED

Originated here and sponsored by the chamber of commerce and other groups in Santa Ana, a plan to reduce taxation by returning government functions to local government units will be discussed tomorrow at a meeting of the Southern California economic council, at 10 a. m. in the Los Angeles chamber of commerce.

Proponents of the plan point out that a large portion of the county budget must be determined by national or state activities, and that many former local functions have been delegated to distant centers of government.

Delegates, including Supervisor W. C. Jerome of Santa Ana and Ross A. Shafer, Tustin, were asked to invite secretaries and presidents of chambers of commerce to attend the meeting.

Expected to attend from Orange county are Jerome, Shafer, Harry Welch, secretary of the Newport Harbor chamber; Harry May, Fullerton chamber secretary; R. Kennedy, president of the Santa Ana chamber of commerce; Howard I. Wood, secretary of the local chamber; R. C. Holmes, chairman of the chamber's tax committee; George Raymen, Santa Ana; O. T. Stephens, La Habra, and L. H. Loudon, Anaheim.

Besides decentralization of government, the group will discuss whether welfare in the future should be administered by local or central governments, and study the report of the state tax commission for Southern California.

CLAIMS CHILLI NEEDED BATH

Asserting that S. Murata, Garden Grove chili grower, failed to wash calcium arsenate from 97,094 pounds of chili peppers delivered to the W. H. Boot Chili Pepper company in Santa Ana, Booth asks damages of $14,175.64 in a suit started against the Japanese in superior court today.

Booth asserts that he received the shipment as part of a 60-ton total contracted for, and reduced 65,033 pounds into chili powder, at a cost of 5 cents a pound. When the shipment of chili powder was seized and condemned by federal pure-food inspectors, he claims, he found out the peppers had not been washed.

He asks $3261.65 for losses incurred in reducing the peppers, $6600 for lost profits expected from the balance of the 60-ton order which he said was not delivered, and $1073.99 for losses incurred by confiscation.

In a second action he asks damages of $2402 for Murata's alleged failure to deliver a portion of a 30-ton shipment contracted for in May, 1935, making a total of damages asked amounting to $16,577.64. He is represented by the Santa Ana law firm of Forgy, Reinhaus and Forgy.

PLEADS GUILTY
John N. Miller, Santa Ana, pleaded guilty to non-support of two minor children in superior court today, and made oral application for probation. His hearing was set for June 26 before Superior Judge James L. Allen.

MORE ABOUT NEW STAR

same time word of its discovery came from astronomers elsewhere, in Europe and America.

Peltier discovered a new comet recently.

"WE'VE BEEN LOOKING FOR IT," SAYS ASTRONOMER
PASADENA, (AP)—Dr. Fritz Zwicky, noted authority on exploding stars, described the discovery of the nova near Delta Cephei as one of the "fascinating finds in modern astronomy."

"We've been looking for it," he said today. "On June 12 we received a cable from the famous cosmic ray researcher, J. Clay at Amsterdam, that started the search."

"He reported an increase in cosmic ray radiations from the Milky way polar region observed on records taken May 21."

"On our theory that Nova cause cosmic ray increases we immediately started a search of the region."

MORE ABOUT POORHOUSE

tying the age of the applicants. They must be over 65, and they must have documentary proof of their ages.

Sixty-five or 70 years ago they didn't keep such accurate birth-records in California, and in many cases the search for documentary proof of age is long and tedious. The welfare researchers must go to federal census bureau files in Washington, D. C., insurance policies or marriage licenses to find the date. If the applicants voted in California prior to 1910, sometimes it is possible to check their ages from their registrations, on which they formerly required statement of age.

Investigation Difficult
Then investigation of resources, property ownership, family finances and eligibility as to residence make it all very difficult in the last days before the law goes into effect.

All applicants must have resided five out of the preceding nine years in California, and in Orange county continuously for at least a year prior to the date of application.

Provision also is made under the law for transferring to the county of legal residence those whose residence is not legally in the county where application is made. If no legal residence is provable in any county, but a state residence can be shown, there is still another provision to take care of that situation.

Lien Against Property
Every applicant must be checked closely on his financial status. He can own property up to $3000 in value, but in cases where he does, any income from the property is deducted from his relief money, and the board of supervisors places a lien against the property before making the aid appropriation. Aid to the aged constitutes a loan from the state, and it is repaid after the death of the person receiving it, when the state can reimburse itself from the value of the property.

Then there is the matter of children. Under the law children legally must support their parents if they are able to do so, and it's up to the welfare department to find out if they are. The law determines that the responsibility of children is to their parents first, and then to their adult children, grandchildren, sisters, brothers and in-laws.

Other Restrictions
Applicants themselves cannot have more than $500 worth of personal property, and no budget allowances can be made for life insurance. The value of life insurance is considered personal property.

And many, many more things. Enough so that the welfare department is a beehive of activity these days.

The "beauty" of the situation is that renewal applications will be taken every year. And every year it will all have to be gone through again, and every case re-investigated. This goes on as long as the old-age security act goes on.

the house and brought out the two weapons. The one found in DeBord's car was arrested. The other was a .45-caliber automatic, while the gun thought to have fired the shot into Marshall's spine was described as an old .38-caliber nickel-plated revolver.

Arraign DeBord
Marshall, strengthened by an emergency operation on his spine Wednesday night, was reported in the same condition today as yesterday at St. Joseph's hospital, where he was rushed after he was found in a vacant lot in the center of Laguna Beach Tuesday night.

DeBord, badly frightened since his arrest Wednesday afternoon when he stopped at Huntington Beach and inquired details of the shooting from a police officer, was arraigned yesterday on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and robbery. Pleading not guilty before Justice of the Peace C. C. Cravath of Laguna Beach township, he was held in the county jail in lack of $10,000 bail.

DeBord also has a warrant for the arrest of Vance, and police and sheriff's officers all over California are watching for the fugitive.

Carl Smith, who reports he had conversation with two men in the canyon, yesterday identified DeBord's car as the automobile which he saw parked near the ditched taxicab.

NO VIOLENCE IN STRIKE

The forces of the law congregated at 4 a. m. today ready for trouble along the citrus strike front. All remained quiet.

Reports that picketers would attempt to forcibly dissuade pickers from continuing with the harvesting of the Valencia crop apparently were groundless, Sheriff Logan Jackson said, or agitators had learned of the mobilization of deputies, police and highway patrol and called the demonstration off.

Reports that the National Labor Relations board, through Inspector Fitzgerald, would attempt to launch arbitration of the strike, were verified by Strathman today. However, he said, growers have not been contacted by the board. The agency has no jurisdiction in disputes of this sort, he said, being limited by law to industrial troubles. However, both sides could turn to their jobs, Jackson said, arbitration board if they desired.

He said striking pickets had slated a meeting with Fitzgerald for this afternoon in Santa Ana.

Jobs Go Fast
Work of harvesting the fruit continued in an orderly manner, with some Mexican workers returning to their jobs, Jackson said. No further reports of trouble were received, although sheriff's men continued to supply protection to workers, and convoys for fruit trucks.

Stuart Strathman, growers' representative, yesterday issued a warning that unless striking pickers returned to their work today they would find their jobs filled by other workers. It was estimated today that more than 500 junior college boys, high school students and ranchers were at work on picking crews.

End Predicted
They have been assured that their jobs will be permanent until the end of the harvest season.

Sheriff Jackson said today he would continue giving 24-hour protection to groves, packing houses and work crews, until "the emergency is passed." Authorities predicted that the strike definitely will be broken by the first of next week.

Arraign Proctor On Check Charge

Jean Proctor, Anaheim, recently acquitted on charges of grand theft in connection with the ascertained pilking of a middle-aged business establishment was arraigned in superior court on charges of uttering a forged check, and of petty theft with a prior conviction.

Proctor entered a plea of not guilty to both charges, and a supplementary plea of "once in jeopardy." He denied everything except the prior conviction, admitting that he had served a term in San Quentin for passing bad checks.

Both charges grew out of the previous trial, when Superior Judge H. G. Ames ordered him held on the forged check count after a jury had acquitted him of grand theft. His trial today was set for July 14.

Legion to Pick New Commander

Interest was aroused today among Santa Ana Legionnaires by announcement that nomination for officers of post 131 will be held at next meeting of the organization, July 9.

The possibility that C. M. Featherly or Charles Neer, vice-commanders, might be advanced to head of the post, was rumored. No official statements of candidacy have been made as yet.

Ewald Wegner, Robert Steele and George Carlson were named last night to represent the Santa Ana post at state Legion convention in Hollywood during August.

had been trying beans, vegetables, and other crops to find out what the land was best fitted to produce. The Adams and Snow ranch was the only one with orange trees of any size, but a few ranches had small seedling orange trees planted.

The Field brothers came to Tustin, Mrs. Field said yesterday, to aid in building a new house on the Adams and Snow ranch, and to help care for the ranch. Later Mr. and Mrs. Field acquired a place on what is now McFadden street, then known as Field lane. There they made their home for 11 years.

"There were no churches, and one small four-room school when we came to Tustin," related Mrs. Field. "All denominations met in Tustin hall and held Sunday School and occasional services."

"The Fields, the Adams, and the Snows were all Advent Christians, and formed the nucleus of that church here. We built a small church building. It was incorporated in the new church when that was built later."

A few of the pioneers Mrs. Field knew at Tustin 59 years ago remain. Among them are the Bowman, Utt and Cummins families. Yesterday and today she visited her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. L. Chateau, as well as Sarah Brown and Mrs. C. E. Ut.

She was to leave today for Los Angeles, continuing a few days later to her home in San Francisco. Most of the years since she left Tustin have been spent in the Santa Clara valley.

Suggest Hostess Program Here

Possibilities of holding a "get-acquainted day" here with prominent women acting as hostesses in business establishments was discussed this morning at the first of a series of weekly forums inaugurated by the retail division of the Santa Ana chamber of commerce. Similar events, it was reported, were successful in Whittier and Riverside.

Open to all business men, the forum was inaugurated, said Chairman Ivie Stein, to allow an interchange of ideas in informal discussion. Next meeting will be at 8:45 a. m. Thursday.

DRIVER JAILED

PROTEST DUE ON LIFTING SANCTIONS

LONDON, (AP)—Embittered sanctionists sought today to loose a storm of public protest against the government's decision to back suspension of Italian sanctions.

Four labor leaders, who called the cabinet's recommendation "the great betrayal" of the League of Nations, led a movement for a nationwide series of campaign meetings.

At the head of the parade of protest was Clement R. Attlee, house of commons Labor leader who has signified his intention to ask a vote of criticism against Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's government.

They took their cues from David Lloyd George, war time prime minister, who led the attack against Baldwin and his ministers yesterday with the ringing pronouncement: "There they sit... the cowards!" as he pointed scornfully at the ministerial benches.

Already national labor and national liberal members were threatening to break away from the government over the sanctions issue.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

PHOOEY! Here I'd just finished struggling through a mediocre column for this evening. I'd searched back and forth through what's left of the editorial imagination for a pun which wouldn't be too foul to inflict on suffering subscribers, and a guy sends me a letter.

Can you imagine that? He waits until I get a lousy column written, and then he gives me, free, a good'n.

The villain is Bob Geivet, who shoots guns when he's not scribbling for the Press-Telegram. Just the other day, Bob took me out to explain how to shoot a gun, and had an awful time keeping me from trying to use it like a fishpole. Anyways, here's what Bob has to say:

Dear Brick: So you're going on a vacation!

Well, don't let anyone ever tell you that the nicest thing about a vacation is coming back. That's a lot of hokum, fostered and perpetuated down through the years by the glib gobs who employ us. They don't like anything about getting back to the daily grind, where you work all hours of the day and night, get a lot of information about people that you don't dare print, and then when you do print something you get in Dutch, is the fact that in getting back you can slide up to the pay window and get something.

You know as well as I do that there's nothing like loafing in the wide open spaces; away from everybody and everything that makes life miserable; away from the pet annoyances of the job we keep for fifty weeks of the fifty-two making up the average year.

There ought to be a law in this great country of ours, since there are so damned many of them as it is, requiring employers to give their mental help a month's vacation—two weeks in the summer and two in the winter. So one could get his ears frosted with as well as just bitten by mosquitoes.

You told me that you're going out of the Walker river country, out of Bridgeport, near a little ghost town of Coleville. That's pretty country. The flaming contrast of your red hair with the beautiful greens of the trees and glades will mark you distinctively as a target for hunters, if there are any. Hope you can run faster than some of these high-powered bullets they're shooting nowadays. I don't care so much about you. I dislike buying flowers. Anyway I don't care for your favorite flower—daffodils.

Speaking of guns always gets me wound up on the subject, just like I have run those words together. . . don't let me fool you by telling you that I can't operate this machine, because the machine never was made that could lick me. . . they just get me down so far that I can't be licked.

Funny, why, in this county of ours where newspapermen always chase up something to write about, few ever write about the guys who like to shoot, who collect guns, who will buy anything that looks like a gun just for the fun of having it. They tie up a lot of money in those places. And a lot of them like to tinker with them. Just for the fun of creating something better than the manufacturer did.

Right here in our own town there are dozens of 'em. Everybody knows Doc Horton, Roy S. the optometrist. He's got the largest and finest collection in these parts, and his pieces are the envy of the one man whose collection ranks first in California—R. A. Stagg, the Los Angeles photographer. . . who incidentally shoots at Olive with his wife—and is tested by her right along—almost every Sunday. Doc Horton likes to tinker making grips for revolvers. Cuts and shapes ivory.

Myron Warner, the president of the Santiago Rifle and Revolver club, is this city's best shot. Close behind him is his brother, Harold, although he's not quite as faithful at making gunshots. At smothering actions of rifles and revolvers. He's a general handyman about a gun.

There are a lot more who have guns and shoot just for the fun of it. Take "Doc" Green, Albert George, the attorney; A. C. Tapscott, the Ford demon salesman. Tapscott still owes me a mailer milk from the time I outshot him at a match six months ago. There are a lot more of the "gun nuts" around these parts. Too many to put in here because I'm tired of punching this machine.

How did you like our little shoot the other day? You did pretty well for a guy who hasn't shot much, and with a strange gun, too.

Well, Brick, if you're still awake by this time, you'll find my adios pretty soon now. May I remind you to take your "bounding feather bed" along with you on your trip?

Yours enviously,
BOB GEIVET.

DRILLING CAMPAIGN MAY EXTEND H. B. PRODUCING AREA

SHELL MAKES LEASE WITH IRVINE

450 Acres Near S. A.
River Scene of Huge Development

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Science and scientists are making a mighty effort to extend the famous Huntington Beach oil field to the southeast of the present productive area, with the Shell Oil Co. planning an extensive test on the James Irvine water land, one mile directly eastward from the present field.

The new test will be one-half mile west of the Santa Ana river, at the corner of Atlanta and Bushard streets. The lease, which includes 450 acres, was assembled by Ralph B. Lloyd, well-known Ventura lease owner.

At least two wells of this fault line on the property, it was announced here today, with equipment which will allow operators to drill to a depth of 9000 feet now being installed on the lease.

The seismograph-dynamite exploding system of tracing faults and oil bearing land has been used in this area for some time by the developers. A huge fault-line, stretching across country from Huntington Beach to Costa Mesa has been established, it was reported. On one side of this fault lies the productive Huntington Beach field, while between the major barrier and another fault lies the land which will be developed.

The acreage under lease extends from the Newland ranch at the east city limits of Huntington Beach to the Santa Ana river, running in a northwest-southeast direction. If production is found in the test well, a drilling campaign is expected in the Costa Mesa field, which extends along the bluffs overlooking the new site.

++ Laguna's Artists ++
George Brandriff's 'Bump of Order' Is Responsible for Success

(Who isn't interested in residents of the famed Laguna Beach art colony? Known throughout the world as a playground and workshop for the artist, the potter and the sculptor, occupants of the seaside village will be introduced from time to time in The Journal. Today George Brandriff and his work at Laguna are described.)

Arriving at 274 Wave street, Laguna Beach, to interview Mr. Brandriff, before he answered the bell it became evident he was an artist without the usual artistic temperament. His Scotch grandfather was a house painter, which may have given him the urge to paint. His charming home is too neat and orderly to suggest that an artist lives there; in fact two artists live there, for his wife co-operates with him and has been teaching in Los Angeles all winter.

His bump of order might come from his mother's side of the family. She taught English in Millville, N. J., where he was born some 40 years ago. Being the youngest of the Laguna artists, also possessing business ability, he is now serving his second term as president of the Laguna Art association. He climbed the ladder to fame very rapidly. Soon after his family came to California and located in Hemet, under the shadow of San Jacinto, he decided to become a dentist. In order to pay his expenses at the dental department of U. S. C., he sold pianos.

After several years of pulling teeth he felt like a bird in a cage and wanted to go back to painting. While at the university he painted many good-looking girls and soon married the one with the blackest eyes. His wife advised him to move to Laguna and take lessons from Anna Hill, who was instrumental in building the art gallery. After lessons he studied with Carl Oscar Borg. Soon he hooked up with Robert Vose, a Boston dealer, who soon put his paintings on the eastern market.

The National Academy of Philadelphia bought his painting "Shorty's Outfit." The Biltmore Salon has 25 of his most recent paintings. An invitation just came to him from the Texas Centennial for as many paintings as he could spare. In a recent editorial, Arthur Miller says of Brandriff: "His orderly mind led him to work along definite lines, so he developed a certainty of style in which form and color is clearer and better fused, not just slap dash color fantasies."

When Brandriff gets tired of painting he relaxes and uses words to express his feelings, for he feels that too much energy leads to a bombastic ego. He controls his feelings and the fire within him goes up in smoke, or else he talks over the radio. Poetry is inspired occasionally. "I searched till the day went dark, and with my crew, five tubes of paint, I gave my own life's blood."

We no longer have to worry about Carmel and Northern California artists, who were described in a recent Literary Digest article, as the art center of the country is now in Laguna. Brandriff is now working on new plans for the art gallery which will help a lot toward placing Laguna on the map.

Protection of Fish Urged in Orange Rotary Talk

ORANGE.—Urging service clubs Southern California to take up the fight to have legislation enacted to protect the ocean fish, J. Charles Davis, Los Angeles, spoke before the Rotary club Thursday. Davis is a writer on fishing topics for the "Southern California Parade" and broadcasts from a Los Angeles radio station on the same subject.

Many persons believe that the supply of ocean fish is inexhaustible, but such is not the case, he said. Depletion of these fish is tremendous at the present time, he added, explaining that in 1931 areas were closed to commercial fishing, and for that reason fish are plentiful in Southern California waters this year.

The commercial fishing industry is carried on in this state by 90 per cent alien operators and owners, he stated. California is the only place in the world permitting purse seining and ownership of the fishing industry by foreigners, Davis said. The commercial interests, encouraged by the three-mile limit decision in Orange county, are boasting that in 1937 they will have legislation enacted which will open the Santa Monica district and Catalina island to their operations. For that reason the clubs get behind the movement to stop such action.

He concluded by saying that Mexico has the correct slant on the problem, not allowing canneries or fish oil and fertilizer plants to operate. For that reason American sportsmen capitalize on this fact to use San Diego for a base for which to operate fishing boats for pleasure, he said.

The club unofficially promised to set forces in motion which it hoped will result in the cooperation of all county Rotary clubs to enact the necessary legislation to save the ocean fish. Otto Scharar was program chairman.

CHAPTER 37

"Tanya, don't be so cruel," a young man with pallid features and straw-colored hair drawled.

"There's Francois St. Pierre here and two other of my fellow guests from the chateau. The little restaurant at Garoupe keeps open for you. Supper is all ordered. If you disappoint us we will come and howl the show down tomorrow night."

"Poor little boys," she jeered. "What could you do against the crowd of those who love my art? You would be thrown out. Nevertheless, the thought of supper is good. You are sure we can have it at Garoupe?"

"One hour," the young man with straw-colored hair, the Duc de Montesset, declared with emphasis. "It took us to persuade Monsieur and Madame Grestner to keep their place open. There is a bouillabaisse there cooked by the chef from Marseilles, and there's a pate that came from Montpelier."

"Shall I make myself beautiful or shall I come to you like a messmate?" she asked. "I can do either. The guttersnipe will be quicker."

"Let it be so," the Duc replied. "Come as yourself."

"You pay for that later on, Monsieur le Duc, when that nice looking friend of yours sits on the other side!" she threatened. "Be on your way to the hotel in the baccarat room. I will be there in 20 minutes."

She slammed the door and bolted it.

"Wash the stuff off me, Aimee," she ordered. Make me if you can, like the virgin going to her first communion! Perhaps tonight I get a little revenge. Who can tell?"

Aimee took possession of her mistress's perfect body. Tanya opened her eyes a few seconds later to find herself there.

"Get out!" she ordered. "Have not you heard? My plans for the evening are made. Why do you sit there staring at me as though you have never seen a naked woman before? Go and play with some of the little poules in the bar."

"So there is to be no supper?" he asked sullenly.

"How will these others help you?" he grumbled. "I thought tonight all was to be for La Patrie."

"You fool!" she answered. "You think of nothing but yourself. What do I care for those boys? The man with whom I am going to supper, the Duc de Montesset, he is the unfortunate survivor of the massacre of Montpelier, and Mademoiselle de Montellimar, and Monsieur Hamer Wildburn who is his rival. Monsieur Hamer Wildburn will not come to me. Perhaps something may be done through one who hates him."

"This business may be all a legend," Sue declared, rising unwillingly to his feet.

"Fig," she answered. "Listen, Guy. It pleases you this party—yes?"

"There are too many of us," he said. "It pleased me because I am next to you and soon they will go away."

"I too," she whispered, "I wait for that. I want to ruffle that wonderful hair of yours and I want—well, for that I can wait no longer."

She leaned over and kissed him upon the lips. His arms would have closed wildly around her but she sat up with a laugh just in time.

"I have an idea," she cried. "Let us go out and wake this sleeping hermit who will not come to see me dance."

"There was a burst of applause from every one except the hostess. A spot of color was burning in his cheeks. His hands, which had been perfectly steady a moment before, shook as he raised his glass to his lips.

"I think the party has lasted long enough," he pronounced. "You fellows are all at home. The chateau is only two hundred yards up the drive. I shall take Mademoiselle back to Juan."

"Not yet," she shouted almost in unison. "We can't part with Mademoiselle, Tanya!"

They all stood up and drank to her. They threw the empty glasses with a crash upon the floor and called for fresh ones. The patron made a note of the number of broken and promptly supplied them.

"Listen," Tanya said, "I agree with you others. Guy shall drive me home presently, but not yet. Guy is my love of the night, but the night is not yet over. Let us take coats and board his fiacre. American and make him join us. If he refuses we will make him swim."

The roar of applause might almost have awakened Hamer in his bunk.

"Has he plenty of drink," one man demanded, "or shall we take champagne on board?"

"Take champagne," Tanya advised. "We will be on the safe side."

They trooped down to the edge of the plage. The moon was little misty but there was still light. They packed bottles of champagne in the bows of a heavy cutter and bestowed themselves upon the seats. The patron, a little doubtfully started them off. Montesset and Tanya sat in the aft seat together.

"You are not happy?" Tanya whispered, squeezing his arm.

"I am impatient," he answered. "I am not sure that this is not a foolish business, although we are all drunk so it doesn't matter. The American has not our temperance, however, he may be disagreeable."

She laughed gaily. "He will forget all that," she declared, "when he sees the present which we have brought him."

"There's Francois St. Pierre here and two other of my fellow guests from the chateau. The little restaurant at Garoupe keeps open for you. Supper is all ordered. If you disappoint us we will come and howl the show down tomorrow night."

SWIM SEASON TO BEGIN AT 'Y' POOL

Advance Registration Tops All Records, Says Smedley

Santa Ana boys and girls, released from school duties, will make a dash for the "old swimming hole" Monday morning. Ralph Smedley, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., announced today he is ready for the rush.

The summer campaign of swimming instruction at the "Y" pool will start Monday morning.

Smedley said today advance registrations for the classes for boys and girls are the largest on record, and that it may be found necessary to provide periods to take care of all the children desiring to take the work.

Four Groups
Boys who wish to take the course for beginners will start at 9 a. m. Monday. At 9:45 a. m. there will be a class for boys who can swim a little but who wish to improve their style and ability.

Girl beginners will take their first lesson at 10:15 a. m. and girls who can swim a little will start at 10:45 a. m.

These four groups will meet each Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning until the last of July. They will be taught by Harris Warren, who has been assisting with swimming instruction at the "Y" for more than a year and who has developed unusual ability as a teacher, according to Smedley.

Classes for Women
Two swimming classes for women are offered in evening hours. One is on Monday from 6 to 7 p. m. and the other on Thursday from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. There are two morning sessions each week, on Tuesday and Thursday mornings, when women may swim or have instruction in the pool.

The vacation schedule of recreational swims will start Monday afternoon. Boys have Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursday from 2 to 4 p. m. and girls have the same hours on Tuesdays and Fridays.

Guards Present
Boys also have swimming on Friday evenings and Saturday mornings. Smedley said every precaution is taken to make the pool safe for swimmers. Boys and girls are forbidden to enter the pool except when a guard or instructor is present. The water is kept in the best condition at all times by means of filters and sterilization and is regularly inspected by the county health department, he said.

Horse to Count Cash at Market

Santa Ana shoppers tomorrow will be amazed at the mathematical ability of Rossika, famous Arabian horse, which will operate a cash register at the Grand Central market here. Rossika, from the University of California's W. K. Kellogg Institute of animal husbandry at Pomona, not only works the cash register but keeps accounts properly balanced.

The Sidewalk Spectator:

To The Journal: Said Shakespeare in his "Merchant of Venice," Act II, Scene 3: "The Devil can cite Scripture for his own purpose."

Now we wouldn't call anyone a devil, but see where some Republican has found something in the good old Bible which he thinks must refer to the Democrat New Dealers.

Over in Isaiah 24:16 it says "The treacherous dealers have dealt treacherously; yea, the treacherous dealers have dealt very treacherously."

Yeah, we expect some Democrat to counter with the verse that says something about the "wind bloweth where it listeth," too.

150 JAYSEE GRADS GET DIPLOMAS

Sheepskins Also Given At Junior High's Commencements

Symbolic of their progress from classrooms to larger fields of activity were the outdoor settings for Santa Ana Junior college commencement exercises yesterday afternoon and for those of the high school today.

Birch park was the scene of jaysee graduation ceremonies, when Frank E. Henderson, city superintendent of schools, presented diplomas and certificates to 150 students, members of the twentieth class to be graduated from the junior college.

Dr. Boodin Talks

"Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added unto you." In this biblical quotation, Dr. J. E. Boodin, head of the U. C. Leland philosophy department, summed up his advice to the graduates.

Speaking on "Man's Place in the Universe," Dr. Boodin emphasized two characteristics of man: his desire to improve the world, and his desire for a living conviction of companionship with the motivating spirit of the universe.

Increasing insanity today is attributed to loss of faith, which integrates a man with the universe, the speaker said. He stressed development of a satisfying personal philosophy as necessary to success in any field.

Hays Commends Students

Preceding introduction of Dr. Boodin by Superintendent Henderson, the college orchestra played, directed by Miss Myrtle Martin directed the women's chorus.

Rolla R. Hays, vice president of the board of education, extended congratulations to the graduating students, who were presented by Dean D. K. Hammond as the first class to be graduated from the new college campus.

Rating the group as 10 per cent above average in scholastic honors earned, Dean Hammond announced winners of the Robert L. Brown and Beta Gamma prizes.

Two Split Award
Mary Lou McFarland and Walter Bandick of the junior college, were each given half of the $25 Beta Gamma prize, voted by members of the college service organization to students outstanding in school service and scholarship.

For their scholastic achievements, Mary Wallace, Louise Sexton and Joseph Langland were awarded the cash prizes given annually for the past 10 years by Robert L. Brown.

The Rev. George A. Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, gave the benediction.

Lathrop Ceremony
"World Brotherhood" was the theme of a costumed pageant presented by students last night in the annual commencement exercises for Julia Lathrop Junior High school. Classes will be graduated only once a year, hereafter.

Anne Useth and John Cleary, Jr., received American Legion medals presented by C. M. Feathery. The awards were made on the basis of scholarship, honor, courage, leadership, courtesy and service.

Diplomas were awarded the 216 graduates by Supt. Frank E. Henderson.

D. W. Stover directed the school orchestra and boys' glee club, and Miss Edith Cornell, the girls' club in musical numbers. Mrs. Marguerite Hill supervised the pageant. The Rev. O. Scott McFarland gave the invocation.

Willard Exercises
Instrumental and vocal solos by students featured graduation ceremonies for Frances Willard Junior High school last night in the school auditorium.

Harriet Spicer, Patty Redman, Martha Grace Powell, Stella White and Herbert Scott played, sang and recited. Mrs. Maurine Scott introduced members of the honor society.

Allison Honer, commander of Legion Post 131, presented medals to Harriet Spicer and Howard Rapp. Ridley C. Smith, vice president of the board of education,

RELIEF FUND NOW TOTALS 3 BILLIONS

Sum Expected to Make Jobs Next Year for Three Millions

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt and his aides will have $3,271,000,000 for relief and public works in the next fiscal year beginning July 1. The sum is estimated as sufficient to provide jobs for more than 3,000,000 on the basis of present costs of relief.

With a $2,375,000,000 deficiency-relief bill awaiting only President Roosevelt's signature before the new program is thrown into high gear, legislative steps also are being taken to study long range relief problems.

Pay for 2,000,000

The $1,425,000,000 item in the deficiency bill for the Works Progress administration is expected to furnish pay envelopes for 2,000,000 persons in the next year. This money will be spent under the direction of the President, as provided in the bill, instead of by Administrator Harry L. Hopkins.

The $300,000,000 fund for Secretary Ickes' Public Works administration is expected to finance a half billion dollars worth of non-federal public works projects. The actual amount is dependent upon the number of cities which accept Ickes' suggestion that they take grants of only 45 per cent and themselves put up the rest instead of borrowing from PWA.

CCC Gets Some
During the year also $246,000,000 will be spent for the 318,505 members of the Civilian Conservation Corps, and about $300,000,000 for reclamation and other heavy engineering projects expected to put 100,000 to work.

Another 400,000 can be employed with the $1,000,000,000 relief cash which remains unspent from the previous appropriation.

SHOE DEALERS BACK FROM CONVENTION

That Southern California would be the apex of one of the largest booms the country has ever seen was predicted by George Eberhart, speaker at San Francisco convention of shoe dealers, Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Alice Peterson, Fred Rice, Bob Schilling and Fred Newcomb were among local merchants attending the conclave.

SEEK MISSING MAN

Sheriff's officers today sought Amiel Baert, 27, Yorba Linda, reported missing by relatives. Baert, the report said, left home early yesterday to work near Placentia and did not return.

Quaker City Extends Hand of Welcome to Democrats

PHILADELPHIA, (AP)—Flag-draped Philadelphia extended the hand of welcome to the advance guard of Democrats today while speculation over the platform to be adopted by the party's national convention next week intensified.

Leaders of the New Deal were closeted in Washington, drawing up suggested statements of policy on such controversial issues as farm aid, money and relief.

There was no authoritative indication as to the planks to be submitted on some of these issues, but word from the capital said Secretary Wallace may seek to have the convention's resolutions committee approve a farm plank embracing four features.

Farm Plank Features
The plank would endorse: The present AAA soil conservation program with subsidy payments to farmers.

The principle of crop production control within constitutional limits.

The present reciprocal trade agreement policy.

awarded diplomas to the 218 graduates.

School glee clubs and orchestra participated in the program. The invocation was asked by the Rev. Harry E. Owings.

CHIEF ISSUES FIREWORKS WARNING

Explains Why 'Crackers' Can Be Sold But Not Used in City

Merchants can sell all the fireworks they want to in Santa Ana. But—technically—the kids can't shoot 'em.

Which puts police officers on the horns of a dilemma—a dilemma, it is alleged, has horns—and the best they can do is warn kids from four to 80 to be careful.

Old Ordinance
The dilemma, with horns, was explained today by Chief of Police Floyd W. Howard. The chief asked Santa Ana youngsters to be careful as July 4 approaches, careful of snuffing out lives, maiming themselves or friends, and damaging property by being careful with firecrackers, rockets, pin-wheels, and other fiery contraptions.

There were two seasons about 10 years ago when fireworks could be neither sold nor shot in Santa Ana. In June, 1925, the council passed an ordinance prohibiting the discharge or sale of fireworks within the city limits.

Old Law Slashed
A good many enterprising souls saw opportunity in this, however, measured carefully for the city limit line, and set up stands just outside where they sold their cannon crackers and aerial bombs.

Local merchants were—to say the least—unappreciative. So in 1927 half the ordinance was cut off, the whole thing amended, and left as it stands today. You can buy 'em, but you can't shoot 'em. Police realize the impossibility of keeping everything quiet as the tomb on July 4 and thereabouts.

"It's like giving a youngster a piece of candy and telling him not to eat it," says Chief Howard. But they will be strict about practices which may endanger lives and property, possibly causing serious fires. They do urge that family July 4 celebrations be held outside the city limits.

And they ask just one thing of everyone:

"Be careful."

Annual Shakespeare Club Meeting Held at Park

VILLA PARK.—The Shakespeare club, one of the institutions of the community, held annual dinner Thursday at the home of Mrs. Ellen Holditch and her daughter, Margaret. The club was organized 44 years ago, and one charter member, Mrs. Hugh Thompson, is still in the club. It is primarily a study club, and for almost the entire time Shakespeare's plays have been read at the semi-monthly meetings.

Guests were Misses Gwendolyn Holditch, Palm Springs; Miss Mildred Gillogly, Vista; Mrs. Marah Adams, Santa Ana; and Mrs. C. O. Thompson. After dinner members reviewed the women characters in the three plays studied during the past year, "Hamlet," "Winter's Tale" and "Twelfth Night." ### ANTI-MONOPOLY BILL PASSES

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Congress completed action yesterday on the Robinson-Patman anti-price discrimination bill and sent it to the White House for President Roosevelt's signature.

Senate approval of a conference report, which has been agreed to in the house, completed congressional action on the hotly-disputed legislation.

The bill would permit the federal trade commission to limit the amount prices could be cut for quantity purchases and would outlaw "fake" brokerage and other fees designed to permit price discrimination. This control was designed to protect small merchants from unfair competition from big buyers, including chain stores.

LABOR SAVING IN HOME CITED AS GREAT MODERN ADVANCE

NEW DEVICES ELIMINATE DRUDGERY

Evolution of Today's Kitchen Equipment Is Described

The evolution of housekeeping from the back-breaking, awkward labor of old methods to the drug-free joy of the present-day appliances is destined to go down in history as one of the outstanding achievements of the modern age.

Where the smoky old hand-stoked coal or wood stove once stood is now a shiny gas or electric range, bright and clean, twice as efficient, effortless in operation—and a thing of beauty in the kitchen.

This same transition has characterized all other functions of the biggest job in the world—home-making. And, moreover, it has brought not only improvements in fundamentally necessary equipment but has produced hundreds of appliances where none were before, to even further lessen the burden of housework.

New Devices Continue
But the process is by no means complete; new devices and additional improvements in existing equipment issue constantly from experts whose imagination, skill and artistic taste are joined in the endeavor to make the job easier and its tools more beautiful.

Such a center of industrial research is the new Design Laboratory in New York, where young people now are being trained in the work of supplying new ideas and designs. So far, it happens, most of these designers have been men, but women are beginning to take their place in the process of designing as well as utilizing these new appliances, according to Gilbert Rohde, director of the laboratory.

Same Assignments
"Our laboratory recognizes no sex distinctions," Rohde said. "Sex hasn't anything to do with good designing. In fact, the two best students in machine fabrication are girls."

Men and women are given the same assignments in the laboratory. Both learn to design com-

And Here's the Veterans' Bonus

The first official presentations of the bonus bonds were made to disabled World War veterans at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington. Patrick J. Luby (left) of Elizabeth, N. J., got the first one, and Amos W. Brown (in wheel chair) of Buffalo, N. Y., got the second from Postmaster Vincent Burke as Rep. Wright Fatman (right) looked on. (Associated Press Photo)

pacts, boudoir lamps, vacuum cleaners, towels and refrigerators. The whole idea is to produce better designs for machine-made articles in this great machine age, Rohde said. Vocational experts have declared that more good industrial designers are needed right now than ever, and that more will be needed.

Enrolled in the laboratory are 400 pupils of all nationalities ranging in age from 15 to 50. Some can attend only in the evening, willingly giving up three hours four nights a week. Some walk as much as seven miles to and from school.

Former teachers, architects, doctors, lawyers, office workers and salesmen are among those now in the classes.

GENERAL WATER HEATER IS ONE OF OLDEST MAKES

General Water Heater corporation, one of the largest manufacturers of water heaters, have been manufacturing heaters for the last 25 years, says Mr. Russell of the Russell Plumbing Co., and during this time they have developed a heater that is not only efficient and economical, but embodies all of the conveniences and modern lines to keep pace with the great advances made in other appliances for the modern home.

One of the features of the General heater is the radio valve which eliminates gas cocks and combines all necessary controls on one dial which is the safety feature of completely shutting off all gas to both burner and pilot, should the pilot light become extinguished.

GERMANY LIKES BALDWIN TALK

BERLIN. (AP)—The speech of Prime Minister Baldwin of Great Britain, including Germany in Great Britain's calculations for stabilizing European peace, evoked satisfaction in the Wilhelmstrasse today.

Baldwin told the house of commons yesterday: "I regard it as of first importance that Germany, France, and ourselves should work for peace throughout all Europe side by side."

A foreign office spokesman said: "Hitherto there has been talk only of Franco-British efforts. The inclusion of Germany is a decided step forward. Mr. Baldwin merely said that we have been contending all through."

Asked whether Reichsfuehrer Hitler now would reply to the British questionnaire on Germany's foreign policy, the spokesman answered: "That question still is completely open. We would far prefer round table talk to a succession of written messages which allow for little give and take."

To Fill Vacancies In C.C.C. Camps

Registrations are open again for young men in this county who want to join the Civilian Conservation corps. Mrs. Belle Spangler, county welfare intake supervisor, announced today.

The new enrollment period will be from July 1 to July 15. Mrs. Spangler said, but registrations are being taken now. Thirty-eight young men between the ages of 18 and 28 will be taken from Orange county in this quota.

There are no camps in Orange county at the present time. Mrs. Spangler said, the ones in Silverado and San Clemente having been abandoned and incorporated with other areas. Most of the recruits from here have been stationed at Vista, in San Diego county.

Applicants must be members of families on relief.

REFRIGERATOR TRIBUTE TO ENGINEER

Every Effort to Merge Beauty, Economy and Utility Employed

All the skill of the nation's outstanding refrigeration engineers has been utilized in planning new models combining the utmost in cooling qualities with convenience and beauty for the sake of the modern housewife, who considers her refrigerator just about the most important appliance in her kitchen.

A survey of the 1936 models, now on display at dealers throughout Santa Ana, reveals the long strides made in the past year in improving the highly satisfactory units which have made the preparation of tasty summer foods so easy in recent years.

Low Finance Costs
And, right now, it's easy to finance them, too. If you want, they may be procured under the new modernization credit plans. Your refrigerator dealer will be glad to explain how easy it is to own a new machine under this plan.

The time was, not so long ago, when the housewife dreaded to see summer coming. It limited the number of dishes she could prepare. It meant buying food in highly limited quantities to prevent spoilage. And it meant a last-minute rush just before dinner to prepare everything because the dainty cocktails, salads and desserts upon which she prided herself would completely wilt if made in mid afternoon.

Developments in electric, gas and, of course, ice refrigeration during the past few years have changed all that, however. And this year, engineers have achieved the highest point in refrigeration history in the manner of combining both convenience and cooling.

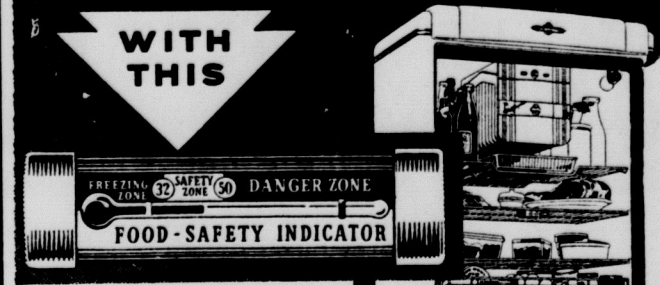

Of no little help in bringing these improvements have been the housewives themselves. Although entirely unskilled in the mechanics of a refrigerator, the housewife knows what she wants.

Beauty Paramount
He, in turn, submits them to the company. And engineers start to work to meet those demands and increase the satisfaction which modern, up-to-date refrigerators already were giving.

Beauty also has been a paramount consideration in the new 1936 models. Stream-lined, in the modern motif, with trim, white finish, the new machines will be a credit to any home. All the square, box-type ugliness of the old units has disappeared, and in their place stand beautiful, shiny and roomy new units.

SHOWS REFRIGERATOR IS INVESTMENT

35 PER CENT DIVIDEND CITED

Housewife Has Figures To Prove Device Is Money-Maker

In addition to being a refrigerator, the modern refrigerator is a definite money-making investment, it has been shown by one methodical housewife who reports her experience in terms of figures.

This housewife is only one of thousands who have come to the same conclusion, though of course many women have not taken the trouble to put their savings down in carefully-computed amounts.

The housewife in question, who reports her findings, states that "the refrigerator in our kitchen is an investment, just as is the investment in our building and loan stock."

"The difference," she points out, "is that the stock pays us a modest return of 6 per cent, while the refrigerator pays us 35 per cent. Actually, if properly used, it can readily earn in the average family about $100 a year—a return that puts the ordinary investment to shame."

"Saving and using the leftovers from our meals is almost entirely a matter of good refrigeration. In the families without adequate refrigeration waste runs as high as 10 per cent of the amount spent for food. My own experience, before and after installing our refrigerator, warrants me in saying that good refrigeration would enable the average $1300-income family to cheat the garbage can of more than $2 a month.

"That my estimates are conservative is shown by a recent survey of spoilage and waste in 1000 families. This survey showed such loss to average $9.75 a month.

"In every family, the kinds and quantities of food bought at any one time is directly dependent upon refrigeration facilities. If the family has poor refrigeration, quantities for only one meal, of meat, for instance, can be bought. But with good refrigeration we buy not a steak or a half a dozen chops, but a large roast or a leg of lamb or veal when prices are attractive. This supply stores admirably for as long as desired—ordinarily it is kept on hand from five days to a week.

"Thus our saving, representing

SEARS SHOWS NEW ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR AND STOVE

"Starting with a veritable bang from the very first day of its introduction to the public, Sears Coldspot electric refrigerator sales has piled up in an unbelievable lead over all competition," A. A. Mumbleau, manager of the refrigerator department of the local Sears Roebuck store, said today.

"The remarkable quality is a leading factor," continued Mumbleau, "and the startling beauty of external design, utmost convenience of interior arrangement, the long trouble-free life of the famous 'Rotante' rotary unit, together with its continued low operating cost, are other reasons for its exceptional popularity."

"And speaking of electric units, I would feel remiss if I did not mention the Standard electric range which we are now showing. It was carefully selected; its many outstanding features sold it to this firm; every cook is an expert with a Standard; the novice gets perfect results at once. We have removed the guesswork from cooking. Standard electric cooking used in your home assures healthful foods cooked the easiest way—fast, clean and economical.

"Everyone is invited to come to the Santa Ana store tomorrow and see the Standard electric range demonstrated right here in our store."

WARD'S NEW REFRIGERATOR DESIGNED FOR THE USER

"All important points were considered," says Myles Standish, manager of the local Montgomery Ward & Co. store, "in the designing of the popular new model refrigerator."

"There are eight very important points to be considered before purchasing a new refrigerator. A prospective purchaser should be sure that the refrigerator he buys has these features," said Standish. "It should preserve food perfectly; it should freeze plenty of ice cubes, desserts, etc., rapidly even in hottest weather; should operate economically, and have the worth while conveniences in all price ranges. It should also have a time proven mechanism back by years of field experience and it should be sold by a responsible dealer."

ECONOMY IS PRESERVING OF FOOD

Refrigeration Stands at Top of List in Home Devices

Refrigeration will stand at the top of the list among the most important of housekeeping devices for as long as eating is the most urgent need.

And so long as it remains necessary for the average family to budget expenses, economy in refrigeration will remain as important as thriftiness in food purchasing.

Value Reflected
These facts directly reflect the value of the refrigerator in the modern home, for the economy and efficiency of this type of food preservation has been proved repeatedly in recent years. Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace predicted a year ago, that all food prices would rise 11 per cent, and that meat prices alone would go up 22 per cent. That his predictions were justified has been shown, and indications are that prices will continue to rise.

Based on Planning
Wallace's figures were based on well-calculated planning. Another forecaster, Charles W. Burkett, editor of agricultural publications and in 1934 director of the agricultural division of the National Survey of Potential Products Capacity, foresaw a food shortage in his predictions about the same time.

Increased prices and shortage in some communities have been borne out, making an impressive case for the contention that economies in food expenditures and avoidance of waste are vital factors in the present-day economic structure of the home.

Bathtub Slayer Admits 6 Wives

Dr. Rowe said James told him the wife whom he had not mentioned was his first. He declined to reveal her name or tell where she lived.

James declared he had a son by her who now must be more than 20 years old.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A renewed fight over sugar quotas at the next session of congress was in prospect today as a "stop-gap" resolution extending the existing stabilization program through 1937 awaited President Roosevelt's signature.

The measure was framed with the advice of the agriculture department, and its sponsors were confident of White House approval.

The Story of Our Missions

Twenty-one Franciscan missions were founded in California by the Rev. Fray Junipero Serra, extending from San Diego to what is now Sonoma county. They are among California's priceless landmarks. The state department of public works has prepared brief histories of them with directions on how to reach them. They will be taken up in the order of their locations from south to north, rather than in the sequence of their founding. The twelfth installment, telling the story of how Father Serra founded Mission San Luis Obispo de Tolosa, follows:

MISSION SAN LUIS OBISPO DE TOLOSA

Founded Sept. 1, 1772
In the Valley of the Bears, so named by Gaspar de Portola and his men on their first expedition from San Diego north in search of Monterey bay in 1769, Father Junipero Serra on Sept. 1, 1772, founded the Mission San Luis Obispo de Tolosa, fifth in his chain of Franciscan stations.

Progressing slowly on their march northward, Portola and his soldiers encountered many ferocious bears between the mouth of the Santa Maria river and the present site of San Luis Obispo and killed a number of them for food. Father Juan Crespi, whose ability for picking future mission locations was remarkable, accompanied Portola, as did Father Francisco Gomez. Both padres left for posterity interesting diaries describing the trip and the discovery of what now is San Luis Obispo. While the soldiers called the valley there the Valley of the Bears, Fr. Crespi named it La Canada de la Natividad de Nuestra Señora because he arrived there on the eve of the Nativity of the Blessed Virgin, Sept. 7, 1769.

As we know, Portola failed to find Monterey bay and returned to San Diego discouraged and determined to return to Mexico. However, he was spurred on to make another attempt by Fr. Serra and set out again from San Diego on April 17, 1770, while Fr. Serra, president of the California missions, went with a sea expedition which anchored in Monterey bay shortly after Portola reached there by land.

Founding Delayed

Ten Franciscan friars arrived at Monterey from Mexico on May 21, 1771, but lack of food supplies at Monterey and San Diego delayed the founding of Mission San Luis Obispo. Indeed, while awaiting ships and supplies from Mexico, Captain Pedro Fages with some of his men returned to the Valley of the Bears on a hunting trip and sent back to Monterey and Mission San Antonio 9000 pounds of bear meat.

The ships with food reached San Diego in August, 1772, and landed with their cargoes there for transportation north. So Fr. Serra set out for San Diego Fages, determined to found Mission San Luis Obispo on his way south.

Those familiar with the thriving city of San Luis Obispo of today, where is situated the mission of that name, may be interested in the description of the site as recorded by Fr. Francisco Palou, biographer of Fr. Serra. Speaking of the expedition of Fages and the establishment of the mission, Fr. Palou wrote:

Fr. Palou's Account

"Thus in time the company arrived in the vicinity of Bear Valley. After surveying the locality, it was determined to found the mission about half a league before reaching the Canada de los Osos, yet in sight of it, on a level plot, which to all appeared most suitable for the mission on account of two little arroyos which contained water with sufficient lands that with but a little trouble could be irrigated from them. For the site of the mission, a slight elevation below which ran the two arroyos was designated. The cross was construction and immediately an arbor (enramada) was erected for the chapel. After the blessing and the sacred ceremonies... the standard of our redemption was planted and venerated. On Sept. 1 of said year, 1772, the Rev. Father Presidente Serra celebrated the first high mass on an altar, which had been prepared in the arbor and thus the beginning him an interesting and accurate account of Anza's journey and the visit to San Luis Obispo. "The Indians of this mission," Fr. Font wrote on his visit to San Luis Obispo, "are clean, tidy and better looking and handsomer than those of any other tribes so far as I have seen."

Indians Grateful
Just what Fr. Cavalier would have done had the natives proved hostile is problematical, but it so happened that the Indians were grateful to Captain Fages and his soldiers for having slain so many savage bears that frequently attacked and killed them that they came in numbers to the mission bringing venison and wild seeds which furnished sustenance for the little band.

The first year was a hard one for Fr. Cavalier. Three times the mission suffered from fire, the first blaze being started by a disgruntled Indian, who fired a blazing arrow into the grass roof of the mission building. The origin of the other two fires was not known. However, they proved of benefit because the mission fathers contrived to find a way to make tiles with which they roofed their structures and all other missions did likewise.

Fr. Serra stopped at San Luis Obispo in May, 1774, on his way from Mexico to Monterey and expressed himself delighted with the progress made. He, himself, baptized six Indians. By the end of 1774 about 107 Indians had been baptized and 28 marriages blessed.

Indians Clean, Tidy

On March 1, 1776, Lieut. Col. Juan Bautista Anza and his expedition stopped at the mission on their second trip from Sonora, Mexico, to San Francisco and Fr. Pedro Font of Mission San Jose de Los Pinos, Sonora, left behind range of the mission. A year later the two mission bells arrived from Lima, Peru.

Had to Support Army

Following Mexico's revolt against Spain, in 1810, Mission San Luis Obispo was compelled, as were all the California missions, to contribute food and clothing to the army, which the government ceased to support. Fr. Luis Martinez at San Luis Obispo many times found himself and his Indian wards suffering privations because of the constant demands of the military.

Fr. Martinez was a jovial soul, and his wit and good humor won him widespread fame in those early days. His sarcastic comments on the idleness of the soldiers got him into trouble with Governor Sola in 1816, but two years later he won the good graces of the army when he valiantly led a company of his Indians to Santa Barbara and San Juan Capistrano, many leagues distant, to help defend the missions against two shiploads of South American privateers who had landed at Monterey and engaged in looting and then sailed south to Santa Barbara and San Juan Capistrano.

Governor Sola so far forgot his animosity toward Fr. Martinez as to recommend him highly to Viceroy Venadito. Fr. Martinez even contributed clothing to ragged soldiers without a demand being made upon him.

It seems a pity that he could not have finished out his missionary days under the happy circumstances that surrounded him at this time, the year 1822. But tragedy for Fr. Martinez lay just ahead.

Beginning of End

Repeated offenses by soldiers at the mission forced Fr. Martinez to complain bitterly to the governor. Finally, in January, 1825, abuses heaped upon the padre by insolent soldiers caused Fr. Martinez to close the doors of the church to them and later to apply for a passport to leave the country. One Vicente Cane falsely reported to Governor Jose de Echeandia, enemy of the missions, that Fr. Martinez, contemplating flight, had shipped $6000 of mission money to Mexico. The story, as old records show, held no foundation of fact, yet it was the beginning of the end for Fr. Martinez.

Soldiers at the presidio of Monterey revolted in Nov. 1829, imprisoned their officers and then, with Joaquin Solis, their leader, marched on Santa Barbara, where they were repulsed. Echeandia seized upon this incident to accuse Father Martinez of having aided Solis and on Feb. 3, 1830, ordered the arrest of the padre on charges of treason.

Father Martinez was forcibly seized at San Luis Obispo and taken to the Mission Santa Barbara where he was held incommunicado. A farcial trial was held, perjured testimony taken and Father Martinez was ordered banished by Echeandia. The grief-stricken friar sailed for Peru on March 20, 1830, at the age of 64 and after having served 34 years at the mission. Father Jose Joaquin Jimeno was sent from Mission San Luis Rey at San Luis Obispo.

Illness Cut Ranks

Illness was decimating the ranks of the Indians at San Luis Obispo at an alarming rate and the military and civil authorities and settlers were rapidly ruining the mission by impoverishing it. Conditions at San Luis Obispo were more deplorable than at any other mission at this time. Designing politicians furnished the Indians with liquor and disorders were frequent.

In October, 1835, Manuel Jimeno Casarin was named civil commissioner to take over the mission and its lands to the Catholic church.

In 1857, Don Dolores Herrera, a Spanish-American, whose oldest daughter had been educated at St. Vincent's college, Santa Barbara, and who was teaching school in San Luis Obispo, deeded to Right Rev. Thaddeus Amat, bishop of Monterey and Los Angeles, a block of land in the rear of the old mission to be used for the erection of a convent school. Herrera desired that his five other daughters be educated there.

Finally, in 1876, the convent was completed and eight sisters

has suffered such devastations that the poor friar was bedded on an ox-hide, and used the horn of an ox as a drinking cup, and for nourishment had only strips of meat dried in the sun."

The story of the ruin of San Luis Obispo under successive Mexican governors is similar to that of the other missions in California, as related in preceding chapters. On Dec. 4, 1845, Governor Pio Pico sold Mission San Luis Obispo to Scott, Wilson and McKinley for $500.

Restored to Church

Then came American occupation of California. On Sept. 2, 1859, President James Buchanan returned Mission San Luis Obispo and its lands to the Catholic church.

In 1857, Don Dolores Herrera, a Spanish-American, whose oldest daughter had been educated at St. Vincent's college, Santa Barbara, and who was teaching school in San Luis Obispo, deeded to Right Rev. Thaddeus Amat, bishop of Monterey and Los Angeles, a block of land in the rear of the old mission to be used for the erection of a convent school. Herrera desired that his five other daughters be educated there.

Finally, in 1876, the convent was completed and eight sisters of the Immaculate Heart of Mary arrived there to take charge. The school was opened Aug. 16, 1876. A new parochial and grammar school was added to the convent in 1926. A fire razed the convent in 1930. The new school was named "The Mission High" in honor of the old padres. Mission San Luis Obispo has been restored and its priceless ancient paintings and relics are treasures worth seeing.

How to Get There

Visitors to Mission San Luis Obispo, in the city of that name, if coming from the south, follow the Coast highway, U. S. 101, direct to San Luis Obispo. If a stop has been made at Mission La Purissima Concepcion, the route is from Lompoc north over State route 56 to its junction with the Coast highway just south of Orcutt, thence through Los Alamos, Santa Maria, Nipomo and Arroyo Grande to San Luis Obispo.

Coming from the north, mission visitors will motor direct from San Francisco over the Coast highway to San Luis Obispo or they may come down the San Joaquin valley, U. S. 99, turn west at Famosa on State route 33 to Paso Robles and then south to San Luis Obispo.

ELECTROLUX STRESSES BEAUTY

Surprising beauty in the interior design of the 1936 Electrolux gas refrigerator matching the charm of the cabinet, is an outstanding new feature of this year's models on display at The Russell Plumbing Company.

The 1936 Electrolux is now not only as beautiful on the inside as it is on the outside, but to these elements of loveliness many new conveniences have been added, thus bringing the product absolutely up-to-date both from the standpoint of fine appearance and of greater usefulness, Mr. Russell stated.

"Many months of study by Servel engineers aided by artists to see what improvements could be made over the 1935 model which women all over the country called the 'best looking refrigerator of them all' have resulted in the creation of a product that represents the last word in automatic refrigeration," he said.

Tiny Gas Flame

"With a reputation of having designed a cabinet excelling all others in beauty and with a background of superiority in performance because Electrolux is operated with a tiny flame of gas, the company concentrated its efforts to make the interior of the refrigerator harmonize with its exterior. Silence, freedom from repairs and economy of operation are still the features that make Electrolux outstanding among automatic refrigerators.

"The success of Servel engineers and artists has been such that our women customers will be surprised and delighted to see how much beauty has been given to the interior of the 1936 models. One of the striking differences between this year's refrigerator and that of last year is that of the shelving.

Attractive Design

"As the door opens, one is at once impressed with what the Electrolux artists call a rhythmic banding of the shelf ribbons, which replaces the old-fashioned plain-looking grill-like shelving usually seen in refrigerators. It affords a more complete circulation of alternate chromium strips and open spaces, some wide and some small, worked out with an artistic effect, give the impression of streams of bright, silky ribbons running toward the back of the refrigerator.

"The shelves themselves have been so arranged that they give the interior a harmonious appearance not only without interfering with the usefulness of the shelves, but on the contrary giving more storage space and affording more ease in the placing of food in the refrigerator.

Trim Interior

"The new arrangement also affords a more complete circulation of air throughout the interior. The shelving has also been designed to take better care of bottles so that they will not topple over.

"All-in-all, the whole interior is as trim and efficient as a battleship stripped for action, and yet there is plenty of sparkle, sharp contrast, and that soft luster which is just what the modern housewife wants in a refrigerator. "Another innovation in interior decoration of the 1936 Electrolux is the ebony-like black bakelite handles which blend in with the satin and polished chromium finish of the drawers and with the gleaming white porcelain finish of the whole interior.

Controlled Metal Lid

"The cover of the vegetable freshener has an automatically-controlled metal lid that keeps its contents tightly covered without any attention. The vegetable freshener has an automatically-out and the lid lifts and falls into place.

"The equipment of the 1936 model comprises all the things that aided in making marketing so successful in 1935, namely, the flat usable top, durable door gaskets, controlled defrosting, trigger tray release, flexible rubber grid, split shelves, bottle and fruit baskets, interior lighting and thorough insulation along with the new improvements. Nothing that affords real convenience has been omitted, but all useless, dirt-trapping gadgets have been left out."

USE ICE TRAY TO MAKE COOKIES

If you have ever been in a hurry to make refrigerator cookies then you may like to try this suggestion.

Refrigerator cookies are at their best when they have remained over night in a refrigerator. Sometimes it is inconvenient to wait until the next day before using the dough.

In this instance, mix the dough as usual. Take a tray from the refrigerator and remove the ice divider. Put the dough in the tray and press the ice cube divider into the dough.

Interfering Pipe Cut, So Telephones Go Out of Order

AUBURN, Calif. (AP)—A small and apparently insignificant pipe blocked the progress of workmen installing a water main here. They cut the pipe. For several hours the business district was without telephone service, while phone company repairmen worked frantically. The pipe was a cable containing 100 pairs of phone wires.

NEW RANGES ARE MUCH IMPROVED

Definite advancements in cooking appliances are featured in the new Tappan, divided top gas range, sold in this territory by the Russell Plumbing Company.

"Throughout every cooking operation," says Russell, "the Tappan range produces a new standard of service that will prove a revelation to the woman who has experienced the use only of the older type ranges. The Tappan divided top makes it possible for two persons to use the same range at the same time without any inconvenience.

"Lusterloy" is a new metal developed by Tappan to be used on the cooking top and covers. It will not chip, crack or break, and will resist stains from fruit juices and food acids."

There is a Tappan model and size to suit your needs, and a wide selection of colors, he added.

TELLS VALUE OF HOTPOINT PRODUCTS

"When the firm of Gilbert-Weston-Stearns was launched, there were a number of electrical firms, manufacturing all kinds of electrical appliances, offering franchises to us," Robert Weston said today, "but we had been studying the appliance situation for years, before we started this line of work, and we selected Hotpoint because that name had been well and favorably known for over 30 years. Time is a tester that either destroys or enhances reputations, and the Hotpoint trademark on electrical appliances has been a recognized symbol of quality and economy for a third of a century."

"And speaking of electric refrigerators," continued Weston, "the Hotpoint is a masterpiece of modern cabinet design, augmented by everything one may desire in the way of convenient features, too. The cabinet is all steel with porcelain interior. The super-freezer is of stainless steel that will not chip or tarnish . . . and it provides faster freezing of ice cubes. Sliding shelves make all food storage space easily accessible. There is a temperature control switch and a defroster, automatic interior lighting, foot-pedal door opener, vegetable drawer and easy-out ice trays.

"More important, however, than beauty and cabinet appearance, are the hidden qualities and unseen values traditional with Hotpoint appliances. Our salesmen would be gratified, indeed, to be able to explain them to anyone interested.

TWO TRAFFIC DEATHS IN WEEK BRING WARNING TO DRIVERS

URGES PUBLIC TO PROTECT CHILDREN

Meehan Issues Plea as Vacation Increases Road Hazards

With 28 persons killed in Orange county traffic accidents so far this year as against 26 last year—

With the toll steadily increasing as motorists drive faster and faster—

And with schools out, holidays coming, children playing in the streets, and vacationers hurrying along on trips—

Death Toll Rises

Capt. Henry Meehan, head of the Orange county unit of the California Highway patrol, today made a fervent plea for safer driving, to keep the death toll down as low as possible for the summer.

"Although the National Safety council says the traffic toll is 6 per cent lower so far in 1936 than in 1935, Orange county is still far above what it ought to be in the number of deaths," Capt. Meehan said.

Two Die This Week

"Children are apt to play in the streets during their school vacations. Let's see if we can't all help keep them off the roads, and at the same time let's be more careful of our driving. Nobody wants to run over a child, even though it may not be the driver's fault."

Two deaths have already resulted this week from driving mistakes, Capt. Meehan explained. In one instance a driver attempted to make a turn at high speed, turning his car over and inflicting fatal injuries to a passenger. In the second case, faulty headlights on another car caused a driver to drop off the road and hit a telephone pole, injuring him fatally.

Speed May Delay

"Fast driving isn't always the quickest way to get to your destination," the captain said. "It may delay you weeks, months, or forever if you land in a hospital just because you were in too big a rush."

Attention to brakes, lights, and general mechanical condition of your own car is absolutely essential, he pointed out, and even then no one can be sure what the other fellow will do.

"Anyone who drives at a cautious rate of speed, is courteous, and makes the safe decision in a tight place stands a very good chance of getting along without an accident," Capt. Meehan said.

ALF M. LANDON :: Picture Story Of His Life

Heartbroken after his wife's death, Alf M. Landon turned over his oil operations to his father in August, 1918, and enlisted for war service. Because of his knowledge of petroleum gas, he was commissioned as a lieutenant in the chemical warfare division in Washington. Less than four months later the war ended.

Landon had won his spurs in politics in 1912 when he followed his father, a Kansas delegate to the Republican national convention, in the Bull Moose revolt. After campaigning for Theodore Roosevelt, he was named precinct committeeman by the Progressives in 1914, serving until the party expired in 1916.

In 1922 Landon served six weeks as secretary to Gov. Henry J. Allen (left). Two years later he supported William Allen White (right), newspaper editor, in an unsuccessful, independent campaign for governor.

Except for the two occasions, 1912 and 1924, when he followed White in excursions across party lines, Landon has guided the rising trajectory of his career within the boundaries of Republicanism. In 1928 he was elected state chairman and in that capacity managed Clyde Reed's successful campaign for governor.

HAMILTON 'GENEROUS'; GIVES F. D. R. 6 STATES

NEW YORK. (AP)—The Republican party's campaign strategy in the crucial eastern states was mapped yesterday as John D. M. Hamilton, national chairman, conferred with state leaders. "We're going to carry the east," Hamilton predicted. "I think Roosevelt ought to carry six of the 48 states. I'll be rather generous about that."

Plan 33 Delegates To Pension Meet

Forty Townsend clubs in Orange county will send approximately 33 delegates to the Townsend convention at Cleveland, July 15 to 20, it was estimated today. That number went to the Chicago convocation last year and it is believed the delegation this year will be about the same size.

Last night Townsend Club No. 11 met at the Franklin school and elected E. G. Warner as its delegate.

LANDON-KNOX TICKET DRAWS G. O. P. DONATIONS

CHICAGO. (AP)—The nomination of Gov. Alf M. Landon and Col. Frank Knox as the Republican team in the presidential race is credited by Charles B. Goodspeed, the party's new treasurer, with swelling the campaign war chest with "surprising" speed. Before the Cleveland convention named the Kansas for president and the Chicago publisher for his running mate, Goodspeed said the sale of "dollar certificates"—Republican campaign "shares" for which contributors pay $1—ran about 700 a day. Last Saturday, the day after the ticket was completed, the sale zoomed to 1500, the treasurer added, and on Monday of this week the day's total was 2500.

PHILIPPINES DEFENSE IS OUTLINED

MANILA, P. I. (AP)—A Philippine plan to defend "every foot of shore line" in the inhabited islands with men, torpedo boats and airplanes was submitted to the commonwealth assembly today by Major General Douglas MacArthur.

General MacArthur, head of the American military commission charged with setting up a low cost, but air tight, scheme of defense, today was made field marshal of the Philippine army. He formerly was United States army chief of staff.

Train 40,000 Yearly

When the plan attains fruition, he said in his report to President Manuel L. Quezon, conquest of the Philippines would be so costly in men and money as to "give pause to the most ruthless and powerful."

Forty thousand reserves are to be trained each year. The defense system will entail a 10-year cost of $30,000,000.

A battle fleet, he added, "lies completely outside the realm of practicability."

Tells Fleet Plans

He said a "relatively small fleet" of small, fast torpedo boats "will have distinct effect in compelling any hostile force to approach cautiously and by small detachments."

Fast bombers, "with a reasonable radius of action," will be the principal item of air corps equipment, General MacArthur asserted.

BOY 'DISCOVERS' PILLORY And Almost Hangs Himself

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Roy Wagner, 12, had seen drawings of pillories in his history books, but today for the first time he had a fairly clear idea of how they were made.

He almost hanged himself last night when he accidentally looked his head in a replica of one of the medieval punishment devices.

The boy was strolling in the Paseo at Redondo Beach, a suburb, and began to investigate one of several pillories erected for a pioneer days festival.

He pulled himself up, put his head through one of the holes made to imprison a man's arms, and somehow he closed the swinging upper part of the device. It caught his neck fast, leaving his feet dangling several inches above the ground.

Young Wagner was limp and blue in the face from suffocation when a passerby released him.

++ County Landmarks ++ Amerige Brothers Founded Fullerton and Erected Its First Building

(In an effort to acquaint residents of Orange county with some of their most-prized historic possessions, The Journal is publishing a series of daily articles on county landmarks. Today's article tells about the first building erected at Fullerton.—Editor.)

The first important building erected in Fullerton was built by the town's founders, George Amerige and Edward R. Amerige. These two men came to the Fullerton district and laid out the town in 1887. They first used the structure as an office building and later as a business building.

Another of the outstanding early buildings was the St. George hotel, built during the boom of the eighties at a cost of $50,000.

The Amerige brothers came to Fullerton and purchased 500 acres of land. Having information that the Santa Fe railroad would build a line through that section, they managed to have it come through their town. Later their interests and those of the Wilshire brothers, to whom they

Summer Formal Dresses in Flower-like Hues Grace Dance Floor at Lakewood

Supper Dance For Comas Members

Country Club Attractive Setting for June Party Of Santa Ana Club

All the hues of a summer garden were transported to the Lakewood Country club in Long Beach last night in the gay summer formal of the women dancers at Comas club's June supper dance.

Garden flowers decked the ballroom, where most of the 85 couples of the club membership gathered, forming an appropriate background for the dresses of the ladies and the light suits worn by the men.

Mrs. Edward M. Hall wore an especially lovely gown of pink chiffon with a contrasting swirl trim of Dubonnet which encircled the neck and fell down the back to a short train.

Miss Elaine Hatch was in an attractive floral print, and Mrs. Leon Dickey's dress was also a print, in chiffon.

Striking contrast of color was carried out in the beautiful white crepe formal of Mrs. Wayne Harrison, its bodice being of black satin with white dots.

Mrs. Walter O. Hill was in blue lace, Mrs. Frank Andrews wore a flame-colored taffeta, Mrs. Lester Tubbs had a lovely white organdy with a cluster of blue flowers at the front of the neck, and Mrs. Leland Finley wore an apple green organdy made in a becoming shirtmaker style.

Several shades of brown were blended into the soft print crepe worn by Mrs. Frank Miller, the club's efficient secretary, and Mrs. Hubert B. Nail, wife of the president, wore another smart print.

Two especially lovely lace dresses were those worn by Mrs. Jack Bascom, pink, and Miss Annie Tarver, white.

For the supper, served at 12:30, the guests gathered around long tables centered with gorgeous bouquets of summer flowers.

Serving as Comas hosts and hostesses last evening were Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Kelly, Miss Elaine Hatch, and Clyde Hill.

SIXTH GRADERS IN GRADUATION PARTY

Twenty sixth graders of the Hoover school, the graduating class, celebrated the end of school yesterday afternoon with a party at the home of Mrs. Otto Schroeder, 2227 North Lincoln, her son, Lowell, acting as host to his classmates.

Pictures of the group who will go to Frances E. Willard Junior High school next fall, were taken by Mr. Schroeder. Special guests at the party were Miss Isabel Lindsay, principal of the school; Miss Eloise Owens, the class teacher, and A. McCracken, their coach.

Sticks of candy marked places for the guests at one long table centered with a bowl of pansies. Ice cream, cake and orangeade were served to the boys and girls by Mrs. Schroeder.

Among others drawn from this county to distant hemispheres are Walter F. Sorensen of 206 North Main street, Santa Ana, and his father, W. F. Sorensen, who left early this month for their native Denmark. They departed on the M. S. Batory of the Gdynia America line, where they will visit with relatives and friends in and about Copenhagen. They plan to return home early in August.

Queen Mary, that great new Cunard liner, will take Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Green of 252 North Cambridge, Orange, on board for its next trip from New York harbor. The Greens left for the east last Sunday, with England and continental Europe as their destinations, and expect to return late in August on the S. S. Berengaria in time for Mr. Green to resume his teaching duties in Orange Union High school.

Another Orange resident who is crossing the ocean this summer is E. W. Bollinger of the First National bank in that city. Mr. Bollinger has gone to Europe on business, choosing the Holland-America line for his transportation, and will return later in the summer.

Just returned from vacations are Miss Frances Potts of the First National bank and Mrs. C. M. Best of the Bank of America in this city, who spent a month in the old south and east, traversing the country by water, rail and air, and W. E. Faulkner of Orange, who has just returned from a two-week vacation trip to Seattle and other northland points, traveling by way of the Pacific Steamship lines.

Marcene Cook of 1012 West Second street and Miss Louise Pee, 320 East Pomona street, Santa Ana, left last Sunday for Cincinnati where they will attend a national sorority convention.

WELLINGTONS WELCOMED AT DINNER

Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Enderle, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Case, and the two whom the party honored.

The Wellingtons made the trip back east by boat through the Panama canal, and drove a new car home from the midwest.

Fuchsia Talk At Section Meeting

Potted fuchsias from the lovely gardens of Mrs. Cardozo Sloane at Corona del Mar, and trays of other gorgeous blossoms picked from plants growing there, were brought by Mrs. Sloane to the Ebull club garden section's luncheon meeting Thursday in the clubhouse on French street, to illustrate the interesting talk which she gave informally before the group.

How to plant, raise and tend these beautiful plants was explained carefully to the section members by Mrs. Sloane, who is known as an authority on the subject.

Members also took this last meeting of the year as a time to bring flower displays of their own for comparison and exhibition among themselves. Many exquisite pieces were the result.

Mrs. A. M. Gardner had one of the most unusual displays, an arrangement of hyacinths as they are found in the Hawaiian islands. Blossoms picked carefully from their own stems were appeared on a long, slender frond of palm, four or five to each artificial stalk, and these arranged gracefully in an appropriate bowl.

Two lovely arrays of pansies were those brought by Mrs. Charles Drutt and Mrs. J. C. Lamb, and Mrs. J. D. Wilson had brought a bouquet of tiny fuchsias which attracted much attention.

Mrs. Mark Lacy presided over the meeting, the last of her year. When the section resumes activities in the fall, it will be headed by Mrs. Wilson, new curator.

A summer luncheon of delicious cold meats, salad, radishes, iced tea, and hot rolls was served before the meeting, at tables appointed in blue and yellow flowers.

YOUNGSTER RECITES AT PARTY FOR DE GLADE DAMER

Little Mary Jane Huffman, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Huffman, was the star of yesterday afternoon's program when Mrs. Harrison White entertained members of De Glade Damer at her home, 802 South Birch street.

Dressed in crisp pink organdie, the child gave numerous readings and recitations. Yellow, orange and red pompon dahlias gave brilliancy to tables in Mrs. White's dining room, where she served a dessert course. She was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. C. A. Kirk, Monrovia artist.

Guests included Mesdames Richard and Grimes, Charles Kite, Otto Hawley, Henry McComb, Herbert Thwaite, William Harding, Thomas Huffman and Ray Graham.

Pot-luck supper was served outdoors, in the garden of the Storry residence, 422 East Walnut street. Business meeting was held prior to playing monopoly.

As a gift from the young people's class, the Rev. Mr. Stivers was presented with a blue leather book cover with his name engraved in gold upon it.

Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames Charles Morgan, Philip Gerard, George Olson, John Farhanking, Charles McIntyre, Mesdames Lucille Knight and Eleanor Moore, the Rev. Mr. Stivers, and the host and hostess.

Whitesell of Garden Grove, was quietly married on the morning of June 12 to Charles Grant Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith of Pittsburgh, Pa., the ceremony taking place at the parsonage home of the Rev. William Kesch, pastor of the Garden Grove Baptist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson of Santa Ana were the only attendants. The bride's gown of aqua marine blue silk was worn with white accessories and a gardenia corsage, while Mrs. Johnson wore white and her corsage was of pink carnations.

For the wedding trip, the couple visited Sequoia National park. Temporarily, Mrs. Smith will continue living in Garden Grove while the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, on which Mr. Smith is stationed, goes to the Hawaiian islands the last of this month. On his return, they plan to live in Long Beach.

SOCIAL LAW CLASSES IN GAY FROLIC

Sixty members of the social law classes of Willard Junior High school dotted the lawn of the A. H. Segerstrom home, 1914 Victoria drive, with color and filled the air with gay laughter Tuesday night when they gathered for an end-of-the-year social as guests of Ruth Ann and Henry Segerstrom. Games and dancing were enjoyed out-of-doors, balloons adding to the gaiety. After a few hours of this fun Mrs. Segerstrom, mother of the young host and hostess, served delicious plate lunches and punch. She was assisted by members of the school faculty.

Mary Stoddard

'Be Sure Spiritually and Physically Mated Before Marrying'—Mealicket's Advice By MARY STODDARD

"The worm will turn—" In fact, it has turned on Matrimony's trail.

For years we've received letters from patient wives who have remained at home and kept the hearth fires burning—

Recently a man who is a business success and who has been faithful for years to a wife he describes as a "marble statue" wrote of his trials and tribulations.

Dear Miss Stoddard: I read with amusement the uncalculated letter of a "Happy Wife" in reply to the complaint of the man who signed himself "Another Husband Whose Wife Failed to Understand Him."

From personal experience I sympathize with this husband as I have spent 20 years with a woman like he describes, and I wouldn't live those 20 years over again if you gave me the entire earth with a fence around it.

When we were married I loved my wife dearly, and being of an affectionate nature, for several years thereafter showered affection on her, only to be met with frigid indifference.

Finally she froze me as solid as she is herself, and we get along fine, seldom having cross words between us. Like everything else, love also dies if it is attached long enough to an iceberg.

I used to believe that marriage was a 50-50 proposition, but to my wife, and perhaps the great majority of women it is a 10-90 affair in their favor.

If this self-styled "happy wife" were married to a man who took everything she gave him and received in return nothing but neglect and indifference, I believe she would soon sing another song. To the young men, and women too, about to marry, I would say: Before you take the fatal step, be sure you are mated both spiritually and physically, and before you marry take the advice of competent authorities on these points, because mismatched marriage is about the nearest to hell on earth that I know of.

J. M'COYS GUESTS AT SURPRISE PARTY

Surprising Mr. and Mrs. John McCoy, 16 members of the high school journalism class last night invaded the McCoy home, 918 Kilson drive, to stage a farewell party for Mr. McCoy, who will withdraw from the high school faculty next year to serve as the assistant director of the junior college and as head of its journalism department.

An embossed leather notebook was presented to the instructor, and the group indulged in reminiscences of class activities during the past year.

LaVonne Franson and Herschel Albrecht arranged the party, with the aid of Val Jean McCoy, brother of the journalism teacher.

Party Under Mulberry Tree

Under, instead of "round 'n round," the mulberry bush went members of the book review section of Santa Ana Ebull club Tuesday for their final meeting of the year.

Only this bush was a large tree, and an historic one, and the hour was not as "early in the morning" as in the Mother Goose rhyme.

The setting was the shady spot beneath the grand old mulberry tree in Miss Martha Ritchey's yard on McFadden street, Tustin, a tree planted seventy years ago by her grandfather and now spreading peaceful shade over a generous area of its surroundings.

Here the group gathered for a delightful no-hostess luncheon and a last get-together before the summer recess. Mrs. Ralph C. Smedley, who has led the section during a successful year, presided for the last time, and relinquished her leadership at the close to Mrs. R. C. Mixer, the new curator.

Adding to the delight of the afternoon, Mona Summers Smith, in her usual gracious manner, gave of her talent in the reading of Robert E. Sherwood's play, "Idiot's Delight," which comprised the entire program for the day.

A fitting climax to an interesting year, the section wound up its activities for this season at the meeting and will resume studies and meetings in the fall when Ebull reopens.

Martha Meade Well-Known Radio Food Columnist SUGGESTS:

SUMMER SUPPERS FOR SUMMER APPETITES

Summer or winter, the evening meal is usually the one substantial meal of the day. As a matter of fact in many of our homes, it's the one meal of the day that we really enjoy together. And how we do enjoy the sense of relaxation that comes with the close of the day and the beginning of an evening of leisure. Summer menus differ from winter ones, for naturally after the heat of the day, our tables should contrive to give the effect of coolness and crispness and, of course, daintiness. By this I mean lace place doilies instead of heavy table cloths, smaller servings, and delicate colorings. Green garnishings with their suggestion of the outdoors give us a sense of coolness and so do transparent glass salad plates, for instance.

There is a subtle change in the food, too, from spring to summer. Heavy roasts gradually fade out or the picture of hearty stews, and usually pork in any form. In their place comes fish and chicken, veal and lamb.

The following menu is seasonable and nicely balanced for flavor and color—not to mention little things like food values:

Lamb with Caper Sauce
Braised Carrots
Scalloped Potatoes
Hot Rolls
Egg Salad
Strawberry Shortcake
Coffee

Lamb with Caper Sauce is an attractive way to serve shoulder of lamb. Have your butcher bone and roll the shoulder and then cut it in individual servings about an inch or two inches thick cutting between the knots the string will hold, and lay them side by side in a Dutch oven. Cover with water and seasonings and simmer for an hour. Then remove to serving platter, add the capers, thicken the gravy and there you are!

Lamb With Caper Sauce

1 small lamb shoulder, boned and rolled 1 quart water
1 bay leaf
Sprig of Rosemary
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
1 stalk celery
1 onion
3 tablespoons Drifted Snow "Home-Perfected" Flour
2 tablespoons water
2 tablespoons capers

Cut lamb into slices two inches thick. Place in Dutch oven with water and seasonings. Boil one hour or until tender. Remove meat and strain liquor. Make paste of flour and water, stir into hot liquor and cook 10 minutes. Add capers, pour sauce over lamb. Re-heat in oven if necessary before serving. Six servings.

Perhaps this menu may give you an idea of what you'd like to serve some hot summer evening:

Mashed Zucchini
Buttered Noodles
Sliced Tomatoes and Cucumbers
Hala-Kahlil Pie
Coffee

Hala-Kahlil Pie is a lemon tanged pineapple pie that's just the essence of everything that's cool and pleasant and summery. And here is how to make it—

Hala-Kahlil Pie

3/4 cup sugar
3 tablespoons Drifted Snow "Home-Perfected" Flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 eggs
1/2 cup top milk or thin cream
1/2 cup grated pineapple, undrained
1/2 cup grated pineapple rind
1/4 cup butter
1 1/2 tablespoons gelatin, dissolved in 1/2 cup cold milk
1 1/2 tablespoons lemon juice

Topping

1/2 cup whipping cream
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons grated pineapple
Mix sugar, flour and salt together. Separate eggs, add slightly beaten yolks to milk and blend with flour mixture. Add pineapple and lemon rind. Cook over hot water 25 minutes, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Remove from stove and blend in butter, gelatin and lemon juice.

When cold, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and pour into a 10-inch baked pastry shell. Stand in a cool place until set. Before serving cover with sweetened whipped cream and decorate with well drained pineapple. Six servings.

Pastry

1 cup Drifted Snow "Home-Perfected" Flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
3/4 cup cold water

Sift flour and measure; sift again with salt. Cut in shortening coarsely. Add barely enough ice water to hold together. Roll out on lightly floured board and fit into a 10-inch pie tin, building up a fluted edge. Bake in a very hot oven, 450 degrees, for 10 to 12 minutes.

But to get back to summer dinners. As mentioned before, the lighter foods are in order, and one entree that our "samplers" enjoyed in the testing kitchen was Spiced Meat Loaf. For this cold dish take chopped or minced veal, ham, tuna or chicken, mix with mayonnaise and spiced vinegar and set with gelatin. Before pouring it in a mold to set, line the pan with sliced hard cooked eggs, stuffed olives, and slivers of pickle. Served with broiled tomatoes and potato chips it makes a most tempting plate.

BAKED STUFFED SQUASH is an old favorite. Make a stuffing of canned corn, lima beans and chopped cooked veal or lamb and fill the hollowed out zucchini or summer squash. Bake in a covered pan with a little water to form steam during the baking so that it will cook more quickly. As a last thought, whenever a hearty salad such as tomatoes stuffed with chicken or shrimp or perhaps tuna forms the main entree the hot dish may be supplied by a vegetable such as asparagus rare-bit or fresh corn pudding. Asparagus rare-bit is merely a Welsh rare-bit poured over asparagus stalks on toast.

DO YOU HAVE 'HIT-MISS' SESSION

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK. (AP)—It was a "hit-or-miss" stock market today, with the misses being in the majority.

Early selling of the steel leaders put a crimp in trading sentiment. Support appeared later for selected issues, and a number of these were up fractions to a point or so around the fourth hour.

Favorable earnings and hopes of dividend increases gave another lift to Philip Morris and Zenith Radio. Improvement was also registered by Chrysler, American Can, Liggett & Myers "B" Standard Oil of Indiana, U. S. Pipe & Foundry, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Loew's, Union Pacific and Chesapeake & Ohio.

American Telephone backed up 2 points on threats of a rate cut for its New York subsidiary. Among lesser losers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Western Union, Radio, Consolidated Edison, American Water Works, Westinghouse, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Wilson & Co., Johns-Manville, Greyhound Corp., U. S. Smelting, American Smelting, Parker Rust Proof, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central and Southern Pacific.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK. (AP)—Selective buying helped to support a few issues in today's stock market, but profit-takers slapped down a number of leaders fractions to 2 or more points.

There was little change in the general new picture, and the close was irregular. Transfers were around 800,000 shares. Prices follow:

Grain Market

By JOHN F. BOUGHAN
CHICAGO. (AP)—Official confirmation of critical conditions of United States spring wheat crops pushed prices up this afternoon to around highest limits allowed in any one day.

Both in Minneapolis and Kansas City, the actual maximum limit was reached, a rise of 5 cents a bushel. In Chicago, the extreme upturn was 4 cents.

Tumultuous buying was increased in the late dealings owing to anxiety as to domestic winter wheat as well as spring being damaged by dry hot winds.

Wheat in Chicago closed flurried, 3 1/2-4 cents above yesterday's finish; July, 91 1/2-92 1/2; Sept., 92 1/2-93 1/2. Corn, 2 1/2-3 cents up; Sept., 1 1/2-1 3/4 advanced, and provisions showing 12 to 20 cents gain. Prices follow:

Butter and Eggs

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Produce exchange receipts: Butter, 110,800 lbs. cheese, 1100 lbs.; eggs, 600 cases.

Butter in bulk, 32c; Eggs, candled large, 26c; do medium, 25c; do small, 16c.

L. A. Hay Market

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Alfalfa hay unchanged. Carlot grain arrivals: wheat, 31 barley, 4 corn, 2 oats, 87 hay.

MOTHER AND 2 CHILDREN MURDERED

Bodies of Pittsburgh Trio Found; Father Away From Home

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—Discovery of the bodies of a University of Pittsburgh instructor's wife and their two small children in their east end home led to conflicting theories today by authorities regarding their deaths.

Martin J. Feely, the husband and assistant professor of physical education at Pitt, was away at a summer camp for undernourished children in Fottersville, N. J.

The children, Robert, 5, and Janice, 3, had been stabbed in the head and strangled. Mrs. Eleanor Feely, the 30-year-old mother, had been stabbed in the heart, apparently after a rope was tightly drawn around her neck.

Police Lieut. George Schmitzer said he believed the mother killed her children and herself. But Investigator John Artz and Chief Deputy Coroner James L. Davidson said they are following a triple murder theory.

Beside Mrs. Feely's body was an ice pick and a butcher knife. The rope around her neck and the radiator pipe had a pipe wrench twisted in it, as a garrote.

Fletcher Rites Will Be Sunday

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Saddened legislators left here today to accompany the body of their colleague, Sen. Duncan U. Fletcher, to Jacksonville, Fla., for funeral services Sunday.

Proceeding the exercises which probably will be held at the grave, the body will lie in state in the Jacksonville city hall where Fletcher first served as mayor in 1893. The 77-year-old senator died Wednesday of a heart attack.

Library Offers Books to Brighten Leisure Hours

Modern life, from its most ridiculous to its most sublime extremes, is portrayed in two novels which were added this week to the shelves at the Santa Ana public library.

In the following notations, Miss Verna Ramsey, assistant at the library, has reviewed these two new books for Santa Ana readers:

Emotional Conflict
The modern manner of living contains good material for satire. The pen of Sylvia Thompson brings to light many of our absurdities in "Third Act in Venice."

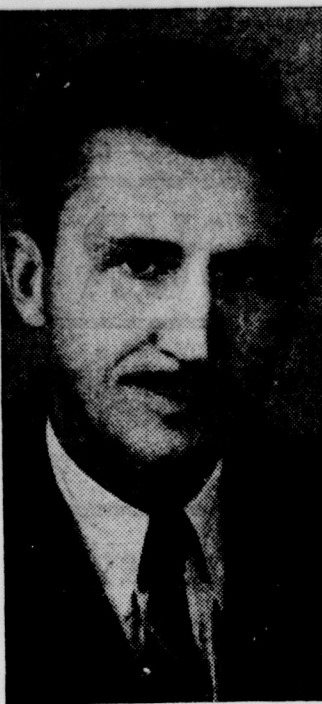

This novel returns more nearly to the manner of "Hounds of Spring" than that of her later novels. Cleverness is the outstanding characteristic of some of these. In "Third Act in Venice," she again dares to plunge into intense emotional conflict.

Ironic Style
The conflict in her new story concerns a man's relation to two women. Sir Francis Radnor is a charming young Englishman, who has always lived more or less according to his current desires and passions. This work with only moderate disappointments until his idealistic nature is stirred by Adria Leigh. At very nearly the same time he meets Josephine, who stirs his baser nature. Sir Francis is not the man to survive such a struggle and the result is tragedy for most of the characters.

The reader is made to feel the force of this tragedy. At the same time, the unhappy events never mar the ironic style of writing. The author is successful in making the reader feel the emotional intensity of the story, at the same time that she is scoffing at the absurdities of life.

Unity and Beauty
Perhaps the only people who have no conflicts within themselves are those who have little or no hope. Having no opportunity to better themselves, they are able to adjust themselves to their situation and make unity and

Ensemble Leader

10-TO-1 AGAINST NUPTIALS

Lloyds Bets on King Edward

LONDON, (AP)—Lloyds' brokers pitted 10 to 1 odds with worried souvenir manufacturers today against either a change in the sovereign will bring a bride to his coronation next May.

The brokers were doing a land-office business insuring pottery and knickknack makers who are beginning to turn out thousands of

Farm Bureau Asks Managed Currency

A request for a platform plank calling for a managed currency to keep the dollar stable in buying and debt paying power was sent to the Republican national convention June 11 by the American Farm Bureau federation and will be sent to the Democratic national convention, it was announced today.

The request was in cooperation with the national Grange and the National Cooperative council. It asked the pledge "in order to prevent disastrous inflation or deflation."

coronation souvenirs. The manufacturers want the insurance against either a change in the souvenir designs or postponement of the event.

If King Edward married, for example, the mugs, plaques and other trinkets would require two portraits instead of one.

"We do not believe these rumors of the King's impending marriage," said a member of one firm of underwriters. "Consequently we are offering 10 to 1 against any change in the present plans for the ceremony, whether it be caused by the marriage or death of a member of the royal family or by war."

Aid for Montana In Drought Asked

SEEK TO BAN ROBBERING OF INVESTORS

Securities Board Lays Out New Financial Reform Plans

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The securities and exchange commission has staked out a broad new field of financial reform with a proposal for lifting standards of corporate trustees to prevent "exploitation" of investors.

Striking at "leading bankers of the country," Commissioner William O. Douglas asserted that these institutions, acting as trustees, "have been sitting idly by while the investors have been exploited."

Proposals Outlined
Proposals under which minimum standards for trust indentures and qualifications for trustees would be prescribed by congress were outlined in an SEC report prepared under Douglas' direction. The report was another step in a series of commission moves looking toward statutory regulation in the field of corporate and real estate reorganization.

Discussing the report at a press conference, Douglas said that trustees had left unguarded the interests of investors generally while they strove to protect their own proprietary interests in corporations.

Saying that "the point of control should be the public offering of securities," the report said that legislation could forbid the use of the mails or other interstate transportation for the sale of securities issued under trust indentures except when the indentures and the trustees met minimum standards.

At present, it was said, the trustee has merely "mechanical duties" and bears no "real risk or responsibility."

Douglas declared there had been cases where trustees, who also were creditors of corporations, learned in advance of pending defaults and "grabbed every asset they could get their hands on" to protect their own interests.

FIRST TO HANG BY NEW LAW

MALESTER, Okla. (AP)—Arthur Gooch, 27, convicted kidnaper of two Texas officers, was hanged at the state prison here today—the first person executed for kidnapping under the federal Lindbergh law.

Gooch walked without aid to the gallows and up the steps. The noose was adjusted and the trap was sprung by Rich Owen, veteran executioner. Fifteen minutes after the trap was sprung Gooch was pronounced dead by the prison physician.

A crowd estimated at more than 350 persons, including eight women, witnessed the execution. The condemned man's death cell farewell to his 6-year-old son, Billy Joe, was "don't get into any trouble, son." The boy had pleaded with death row guards, "Don't hang daddy."

A year and four days ago, the kidnaper was sentenced to death for abducting two Paris, Tex., officers, R. N. Baker and H. R. Marks, and bringing them into Oklahoma. One of the officers was shoved through a show case and injured during a scuffle, thus making the death penalty applicable.

World Leadership Is Claimed for Maytag Washers

"Superiority in any kind of an endeavor is won only by sheer merit. Maytag attained world leadership because it originated and developed a superior washer for home laundering. Maytag has retained that world leadership because it has continued to make the world's finest washer—year after year."

That was the statement today of John W. Jesse, of the Electric Appliance Co., who added that Maytag will maintain this world leadership for a long time to come. During July, 1935, the Maytag company received orders for 87 carloads of washers, one of the largest orders in history.

Says 30 Million Satisfied With Stewart-Warner

There are over 30 million satisfied users of Stewart-Warner products, and it is one of the largest manufacturers of electric refrigerators, according to John W. Jesse, of the Electric Appliance Co., 227 North Broadway. Its sales and service organization is nation-wide.

"The name Stewart-Warner on your refrigerator is your assurance and guarantee of every possible satisfaction—it means safe, dependable, economical food preservation for many years to come," he said.

Jesse added that Stewart-Warner sales are up 125 per cent over last year.

Old Adobe at Mission City Preserves Relics Of Early California

By ALFONSO YORBA

Squarely on the old Camino Real of mission days at San Juan Capistrano and between the ruined Tomas Ramos and decaying Tomas Burruel adobes stand the picturesque remnants of the once vast Aguilar hacienda of the old alcaldes of San Juan.

Converted into a veritable treasure house of Californiana by its hospitable owner, Don Juan Aguilar, descendant of the alcaldes, the "Casa de Esperanza," principal remaining wing of the establishment, easily rivals any museum in the county in historic interest.

Once joined to the "Casa Tejada" or tile roofed south wing by now fallen abode walls and buildings, Don Juan Aguilar's house formed the north wall of a quaint tile paved patio with its ancient Spanish well and huge adobe outdoor oven, where in pastoral days the Aguilares' mission Indian retainers were to be seen drawing water, grinding corn, making tortillas, and going about the household tasks.

Documents Prove Title

A musty alcalde document, dated Oct. 10, 1848 and signed by the last Indian chieftain of the mission, Zeferino Taraje, acknowledges that the then alcalde of the pueblo, Don Blas Aguilar, had previously paid Taraje the value of the tile roofed house which Taraje had legitimately received during the repartition of the ex-mission in 1841. Other documents record a portion of the "Casa de Esperanza" purchased later from the heirs of other mission Indians, thus giving proof to the great antiquity of the buildings—for the mission padres record having built no less than 74 such adobe houses for their wards in 1794 and 1807. The proximity of the Aguilar houses to the mission and the tradition that the "Casa Tejada" was occupied by the master mason of the stone church before 1799 as well as their earlier style construction point these abodes out as 1794 structures.

When one steps into the "Casa de Esperanza" it means leaving the modern outside and seemingly far away, for every nook and corner of the huge rambling old house brings vivid memories of early California.

Houses Mission Relics

Had it not been for the industry and interest of Don Juan many such early mission relics as crude iron agricultural tools, fragments of hand hewn timber, and mission Indian stone metates, manos, and morteros, would have been destroyed or thrown away by their aged Indian owners—but here they are, ranged along the uneven adobe wall.

Of even greater interest to guests of Senor Aguilar are his collection of old Spanish Californian clothes, serapes, swords, daggers, pistols, rapiers, leatherwork, bits and spurs, to say nothing of antique red leather chests and a four poster bed of Spanish cherry wood brought around the Horn in the 1790's.

Relics of the Californian war include the Serrano sword of the battle of San Pascual and a rusty lance head of the Californian cavalry from the same battlefield, while an ugly machete of the type carried by Micheltorena's soldiers recalls a treasure hunt when the burial place of the weapon was disclosed by the house's ghostly visitor from the other world.

Old Spanish Coins

Nearby are some silver reales of the reign of King Carlos IV, one of them having been found in the old pueblo plaza in front of the mission, along with a silver Mexican peso of 1840 and a lot of old United States coins of the 1850's.

Choice oil paintings, engravings, and early daguerrotypes and photographs of the missions before being restored, of old adobes, rancheros on horseback in the pastoral days of the pueblo, and of members of the Spanish, Californian aristocracy of the days of the Dona adorn the walls, while a score of unique Navajo rugs cover the floors.

An extensive library of California fills the long blue bookshelf and a nearby chest holds the ancient Spanish books, many bound in sheepskin, alcalde documents, old letters, maps and diaries that Don Juan inherited from his cultured father don Jesus Aguilar, the son of the Senor Alcalde, don Blas.

Rich in Memories

Rich though the house is in these closely guarded relics of old California, it is still richer in memories of the days of the Spanish and Mexican regimes.

For here lived the alcaldes of the old adobe pueblo in the rude splendor of carefree rancheros of old.

Don Rosario Aguilar, founder of the family in San Juan in the year 1841, was an old Spanish soldier from the presidio of San Diego. Grantee of the Rancho Paguay in 1839 by Governor Alvarado, and second constitutional alcalde of San Juan Capistrano under the Mexican republic in 1843, to Don Rosario fell the enviable privilege of convoking the pueblo council that same year and issuing a proclamation declaring San Juan Capistrano to be "free and independent" and to be at a "state of war" with the unpopular Governor Micheltorena, later expelled from the department by a general uprising of all the pueblos against his reactionary policies.

Last Mexican Alcalde

Following his father four years later as the last alcalde of San Juan under Mexican rule, Don Blas Aguilar was also the first Jefe de paz under the American regime, and in a long letter to the Los Angeles alcalde in 1848 protected against the latter's interference in the affairs of San Juan which was "in no way subordinate" to the municipality of Los Angeles.

After that Don Blas went right on governing the isolated pueblo, utterly ignoring all American laws of government to such an extent that Judge Benjamin Hayes remarked at the fact that the pueblo officials didn't seem to know they were in the United States and when inducted into office swore no oath of allegiance to the American government, but made Mexican pueblo law grants right and left as in the days of old.

Long a social center of the pueblo, old time residents recall the tile paved Aguilar patio as the scene of the annual celebration of the 16th of September (Mexican Independence day) well up into the 1890's, when the native clowns or "marmeros" would put on a crude acrobatic show and concert.

Scene of Bandit Raid

Not all the memories of the hacienda are pleasant, however, for in 1857 the German Jew, Jorge Pflugardt, who rented a large room on the south side of the patio as a store, was slain there by the bandit, Juan Flores, his store looted, and all the stock not desired by the freebooters thrown out into the patio for the paisanos to carry away as they desired. In a few minutes not an article remained.

Other legends of the old adobe buildings deal with the distribution of Don Blas' elegant multi-colored Californian clothes to a band of half-naked Indians the day the old alcalde "went Yankee" and had himself decked out in the latest cut of clothes obtainable in San Francisco in the 1870's; innumerable ghost stories, and not a few tales of buried treasure—the most spectacular being that of the discovery of Jorge Pflugardt's buried valuables in the 1860's.

Thus ends our trip through the mellow alcalde capitol of San Juan Capistrano—one of the most valuable historic monuments of Orange county and one of which she may well be proud, thanks to the ceaseless labor and effort put forth by the county's foremost Spanish Californian don of our day, Don Juan Aguilar y Ruiz, of the "Casa de Esperanza."

DEVELOPING WHEAT LAND

LA PAZ. (AP)—Hoping to make its pampa in the Chaguyaya region near the Argentine frontier a wheat center which can supply Bolivia's needs, the government is planning to send 30 Czech farming families to the district. Irrigation will be necessary but engineers report only 10 miles of ditches need be constructed.

Poppies A-bloom in Simple Two-Patch Quilt

Poppy Applique

What more appropriate than the poppy—symbol of sleep—for a quilt. These, in applique, require precious little time for making. Two simple patches and a stem and your block is done. Use scraps, if you like, and vary each flower's color. Dark floss, outlining flowers and leaves, accents the design effectively.

In pattern 5629 you will find the Block Chart, an illustration for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, California. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

Help Wanted!

WANTED: Several hundred good fellows to kick in $3 or more each so that several hundred underprivileged boys and girls can enjoy a week's healthy outing at camp this summer.

This is the first time we have ever run a classified ad in the editorial column. But we are glad to do so in a good cause. And there's no charge.

For if there is one worthwhile movement under way here today for youngsters who need help, it's the plan of the Orange County Boy Scout council to provide a much needed summer outing for boys and girls who perhaps are unable, for one reason or another, to obtain sufficient wholesome food, stimulating activities and proper guidance at home.

Cooperating in this happy enterprise are the Boy Scouts, the SRA and WPA, service clubs, and other character building agencies. They are furnishing the two camps needed, the transportation for the youngsters, and other needs.

But it is necessary to have cash for food. By thoughtful economy, it has been worked out so that $3 will take care of one boy or girl for a week.

If you can afford it, be a good fellow. Your donation may give a new and happier slant on life to some underprivileged young one. Your check should be sent to J. A.
Cranston or to Harrison White, Boy Scout executive.

Farley and Hamilton

WE HAVE a hunch that one day soon you may pick up The Journal and read that Three-Job Farley has resigned two of his positions and is now devoting his entire time to managing Democratic party matters.

Patronage Jim is bound to wake up sooner or later to the fact that he is not battling Fletcher when he gets into the political ring with red-haired young John Hamilton of the Republican national committee.

And as a former boxing commissioner, he should know it now, after that sock on the jaw he took in his first verbal encounter with the Kansan. If you don't believe he took one, re-read Farley's statement about the nomination of Landon, and the reply by Hamilton.

The campaign does not look like the push-over it once did before the Topeka lawyer tied on the gloves. Big Jim had better quit as postmaster-general and New York committee chairman, and get down to business.

We have felt for a long time that Three-Job Farley is one of the New Deal's greatest weaknesses. Now that he is up against Hamilton, the weakness is more apparent than ever.

The supervisors say that transferring that $47,000 in delinquent taxes to the school districts is just like taking money out of one pocket and putting it into another. Yes, but maybe the school districts are tired of holding the empty pocket.

Civilization's Growing Pains

THE Canadian New Deal is having trouble in the courts, too. The six red-robed old men of the Dominion's supreme court have just voided Canada's national marketing act and unemployment and social insurance statutes.

On other new legislation, the judges split evenly—voting, three to three, on minimum wage and maximum working-hour legislation.

Thus the field is clear in another great North American nation for more controversy over human rights in relation to those of industry and the government.

These are truly important days in the western hemisphere. The major powers are changing from an era, in which individual initiative and the pioneer spirit predominated and were necessary for national development, into a period in which complex community cooperation and regulation seem vital for the progress of modern civilization. And the growing pains are hard to bear.

Il Duce Wins Again

THE smile of the cat that ate the canary must have graced Il Duce's iron face yesterday as Sir Anthony Eden urged the British house of commons to revoke economic sanctions against Italy.

The British empire was eating humble pie. For it was largely at Britain's insistence that the League of Nations imposed the sanctions in an effort to halt the Italian ravaging of Ethiopia.

From a standpoint of practical policy, Sir Anthony perhaps was right. Italy's conquest has put her in a position to squeeze down on the Blue Nile which supplies most of the water for England's Egyptian protectorate.

So England must knuckle under—unless she wants war.
God help the world when these mad dictators learn how to impose their will upon everyone who either can't or won't resist!

Roger Babson predicts two years of prosperity, but he doesn't say for whom.

Business Best in Five Years

RETAIL business is better in Santa Ana than it has been in the past five years. And we can prove it.
Here are the figures on business license collections based on gross receipts of paying firms, according to the records of City Auditor Lloyd H. Banks:

Fiscal year, 1931-32	$38,442.00
1932-33	37,363.00
1933-34	38,619.11
1934-35	36,030.00
1935-36	39,279.22

The trend is upward. And if improvement continues at the same rate for the next 12 months—well, there'll be an opportunity to revive that old song, "Happy Days Are Here Again."

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Thoughts while strolling: What's become of all the colors we used to know—greens, browns and blues? For instance, the new summer shades: p.a.g.o., copper, henna,
toasty willow.
Add imperial looking ladies:
Mrs. Jane Tib-bett. For political oblivion the fellow Zion-check.

For the Look
The Same as Years Ago Club: Harry Staton.
How tacky the avenue grow-Babe Ruth has taken retirement with a becoming grace. Imagine England tolerating some of our crooked judges. Always a glamour about a Pullman porter. What became of Gandhi?

Title for a short story: "A Blind Date at 80." No matter how they twist the dime receiver on buses, conductors always hold it wrong.
Those curious inspecting couples on the avenue after nightfall. Not rural window shoppers, but dress designers swiping ideas.

Five angry desperate way women in hat shops jerk off the one they don't like. And never a farewell glance. No sound more soothing than the far-away click of wood on wood in a bowling alley.
The next longest ear-rings in the world are worn by Inez Haynes Irwin.

Mrs. Belloc-Lowndes sounds as though she might be made of jelly. And she's a ringer for Victoria. The Times says Annabelle Lee is a must-know poem. It's the maddest ever written. Zee he.

Fifth avenue's conservative merchants who are in the majority are becoming increasingly concerned over the fly-by-night racketer who take over empty stores and give them a bantered blandancy that suggests the deep Bowery. Mostly they are "linen stores," and never are the names of the owners displayed. The customer has no recourse if disappointed. Anyway, they seldom remain more than a few weeks. Their windows display the high grade established article. But they are only for the windows—the stuff on sale is shoddy.

And Park avenue had a duck fit over the possibility of a movie house in an arcade planned for the fabulous 50's. Applications for a license have been denied after round robins of protests were circulated among tenants in the surrounding buildings. Park avenue believes one movie like the speck in the barrel of apples means quick decay. It is already thinly flecked with vulgar trade.

Being a small property owner on Park avenue I am for that reason alone opposed to commercial invasion. But secretly I am for living over a store, next door to a movie or even a marathon dance hall. I never visit the lower East Side without a wince of envy for those placid, window-leaning figures above the shops. From the sidewalk there is generally visible a canary. And on the window ledge a white poodle several weeks in both arrears. The battle-drum and shuttlecock talk from window to window is always pitched in an exciting tone. Tots dash about in screaming play until midnight. No community living seems more fun.
More of give and take. Everything external and childlike.

The push boys who weave in and out of the garment center traffic in the 30's with their roller truck scooters piled high with bundles and racked with gowns are the most nimble of death-defiers. Like a flash they can scoot through incredible spaces.
Although they number in hundreds the mortality rate is almost nil. They are paid around $30 a week. And many of them have become big dress merchants.

Grantland Rice, aside from being one of the newspapermen with great earning capacity, is among the most popular. Aside from his syndicated newspaper column and editing a golf magazine, his film sport shorts are in high favor.
Rice, Tennessee born, came to the old Evening Mail via Atlanta 25 years ago with a cherubic smile, ruddy cheeks and a southern accent which he has never lost. His hair has not been so loyal. His wife, Kate, is one of the notable beauties and a charming hostess.
And their daughter, Florence, is not only a striking beauty but talented on screen and stage. She was an especial favorite of Ring Lardner and Percy Hammond, her parents' neighbors at Easthampton, L. I.

BRIGHT MOMENTS
Count von Moltke, who was instrumental in sending German troops to aid in defeating the armies of Louis Napoleon, used to talk about a stag hunt in which he participated at Fontainebleau in 1867. He rode behind Louis Napoleon, and when the emperor's hat fell off, he picked it up and handed it back. "So I was able,"
he said, "to give the emperor back his hat. And three years later," he added with a smile, "we took his crown."

30 PER CENT GRAFT
The senate was considering a provision in the relief bill by which the Public Works administration would be permitted to grant outright only 30 per cent of the funds for projects costing more than $100,000. The balance would have to be a loan to be repaid the government.

During the debate, Senator
Harry Moore of New Jersey received this telegram:
"Re Work Relief Bill, 30 per cent 'graft' inadequate. Irvington cannot participate on this basis."
The telegram was signed Percy
A. Miller, Jr., mayor of Irvington,
N. J.

Note: In the end, the senate
amended the bill so that PWA

WASHINGTON.—Despite the millions of words telegraphed out of Cleveland on the Stop-Landon movement, what is probably the most remarkable story about it has not yet leaked out.

It happened just after midnight following Hoover's telling tirade against the New Deal. When Hoover left the convention hall for his return, Chairman Snell announced that he had taken a train for New York.

But he had not. Hoover at that time was in a hotel only three blocks away. And a remarkable conference was taking place.

Undoubtedly they would not say so now, but at that time Colonel Knox and Senator Vandenberg thought they saw in the great ovation given Hoover, a clear confirmation that the swing to Landon could be stopped.

GO-BETWEEN
So they asked Chester Rowell, dely known San Francisco editor and close friend of Hoover's, to arrange a conference.

Rowell returned in a few minutes with word that the ex-president had decided before coming to Cleveland not to meet any of the candidates. He wanted to maintain this. But if Knox and Vandenberg had any ideas they wanted to convey, he would be glad to receive them through Rowell.

So, through this medium, it was proposed that a joint statement be issued the next morning, signed by Knox, Vandenberg and Hoover, and aimed to stop Landon. The statement was to be read to the convention just before John Hamilton made his speech placing Landon in nomination.

Hoover replied that he was willing to sign the statement. But he said he thought it should also have the signature of Borah as one of the leading candidates.

At this point the discussions stopped. Hoover left for New York, willing to have the statement issued if Borah was included.

But Knox and Vandenberg did not contact Borah. Probably they knew it was futile. And they were right.

For when the Senator from Idaho learned of it and his reaction was: "Why should I go out of my way to help either side?"

Rowell denies categorically that Hoover agreed to sign any stop-Landon statement, though he agrees he had conversations at Cleveland with Hoover, Knox and Vandenberg. Vandenberg, when queried, said he would make no comment whatsoever as the convention was now "all water over the dam."

And thus Landon was never stopped.

30 PER CENT GRAFT
The senate was considering a provision in the relief bill by which the Public Works administration would be permitted to grant outright only 30 per cent of the funds for projects costing more than $100,000. The balance would have to be a loan to be repaid the government.

During the debate, Senator
Harry Moore of New Jersey received this telegram:
"Re Work Relief Bill, 30 per cent 'graft' inadequate. Irvington cannot participate on this basis."
The telegram was signed Percy
A. Miller, Jr., mayor of Irvington,
N. J.

Note: In the end, the senate
amended the bill so that PWA

Twenty-Five Years Ago

JUNE 19, 1911

It pays to be popular, especially in Orange county, where the most popular lady soon will be awarded a five-passenger, 20-horsepower, Ford touring car.

President and Mrs. Taft celebrated their silver wedding anniversary today.

A mad dog caused considerable excitement in the Newhope district this morning. After it had bit a cow or two belonging to Mr. Isles, County Health Officer
Wehrly was contacted. He promised to Mr. Isles to kill the mad beast.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Grubb entertained several friends Friday evening at dinner. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Marple, and Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Robbins. Whist followed.

Fine, the horseshoer, Broadway and Fifth, will correct that faulty gait in your horse. Shoeing, $1.50 up.

Nelson Visel was host to a number of his friends at a sumptuous dinner Saturday at his home on French street, the Dragon, celebrating the five-course meal.
After dinner, phonograph, mandolin and guitar music was enjoyed. Guests included the Misses Ellnor Rittner, Mary Wilkes, Mildred Buchanan, Alice Clausen, Frances Lois Langley and Olin
McCord, Granville Tedford, Leroy Warren, Homer Robinson and Spencer Collins.

CONGRESSMAN DOORKEEPER
Charles Roger Evans, ex-congressman from Nevada, has come back to congress. But instead of occupying a seat on the floor of the house, as he did from 1919 to 1921, he leads flocks of sightseers into the gallery.

Evans' new role is that of a capitol guide, escorting cameratoting high school boys and girls about the building where he once served as the sole congressman from Nevada.

In the 14 years between his two "terms" in the capitol, Evans has run a copper mine, sold cars in Chicago, driven trotting and pacing horses in "the grand circuit" out west, and managed a series of gambling houses in Elko, Nev.

He says that the job of capitol guide is just a stepping stone to getting back to a seat in congress.

"And then," Evans concludes,
"somebody else will be telling the sightseers in the gallery all about the great congress of the United States."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Fighting against the President's corporation tax proposals, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., General Motors president, said: "To interfere with the logical and sound evolution of American business would be little short of a catastrophe." Sloan's income from General Motors was $201,744 in 1934, $374,505 in 1935.
Warning—Don't stick your nose where it doesn't belong. This, in effect, is what the bureau of animal industry says to shippers of horses by truck. If the horses are loaded crosswise, their heads should be on the right, toward the outside of the road, to avoid injury from passing vehicles. . . . An AAA wit, John J. Kearns, declares his choice for "book-of-the-month" is "Lost in a Forest" by Senour Woods. . . .

What Other Editors Say

MINIMUM WAGE CONFUSION

(The Boston Transcript)

An eminent lawyer of Boston, now 85 years of age, has written for his grandson, who he hopes will likewise become a lawyer, a brief testament of instructions. At that document, summing up essential observations of a long and unusually successful practice at the bar, he says: "Remember this always. Fundamentally, what judges most desire is that their decisions shall appeal to the common sense of the community."

Can it be said that such appeal is made by the majority decision of five of the justices of the supreme court invalidating the New York minimum wage law, and with it imperiling the like statutes enacted by Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Ohio and Illinois? In these state-adopted laws, there was no hint of the national centralization of bureaucratic power over industry, the high pressure, the extremism that marked the federal NRA, so gloriously put down by the supreme court.

NO COALITION

(The Emporia Gazette)

The Republican party is either going to be reborn as a new constructive party to function in the new era that the war and the depression have made, or it is going to blow up from the inside and disappear.

This election cannot be won without getting the votes of the independent, forward-looking Republicans who voted for Roosevelt four years ago and were fooled.
He has failed to reduce unemployment. He has made a relief partisan program. His independent supporters have come to their senses. They want to vote the Republican ticket but they don't want to be caught dead voting for a hybrid, a mongrel, a cross between Mercury winging ahead and Lot's wife looting back.

Nix on coalition!

JUDICIAL CHOICES

(Ventura Star)

Mr. Hoover, in his G. O. P. convention speech, calling on the American people to "thank Almighty God for the constitution and the supreme court," solemnly warned against the danger of letting President Roosevelt make appointments to the court.

One of the most "dangerous" of the black-robed nine, from an Old Guard viewpoint, is Justice Cardozo. One Herbert Hoover appointed him, as well as Justice Roberts and Chief Justice Hughes, who isn't entirely "safe" as a defender of the status quo. That other staunch Republican, Calvin Coolidge, appointed the highly liberal Justice Stone.

So what?

Remarkable Remarks

We of America are altruistic—we are good neighbors—but we cannot prevent wars between foreign countries. . . . We will not go to war to protect the foreign investments of any financial bucconers within our midst.—Harry H.
Woodring, assistant secretary of war.

History shows us that the great danger to the world is not in its dictators, for dictators always destroy themselves. The danger lies in the lack of interest on the part of people who should be most concerned with public affairs.—
Dr. William M. Lewis, president,
Lafayette college.

The only real happiness a woman achieves comes when she is a sweetheart, wife and mother.
Without these things the normal woman must be unhappy. Women like to be put in their places, you know.—Duchess Carofa D'Andrea of Naples.

Former Attorney General Horace M. Havner of Iowa was in Santa Ana yesterday visiting at the courthouse in company with his old-time friend, Jim Farquhar, of the Huntington Beach News.
Havner is trying to untangle a newspaper transaction for Far-quhar. It happened in Iowa long ago, but is still "unfinished business" so far as Jim is concerned.

Visitor at the courthouse this forenoon inquired about the location of the tax collector's office.
I didn't know the place was that popular.

I have a friend who is planning a vacation. It is contingent upon certain remittances coming in from an orange crop, and other responses which should bring in sufficient returns to finance the trip.
Otherwise the trip will remain in the planning.

"Stormy" Gordon yielded to the invitation of friends to go fishing.
Now he is convinced the invitation did not come from friends.
He said he was so sick he thought he was going to die, and disappointed because he didn't. Life on the ocean waves has lost all of its appeal to "Stormy." He says a man's goofy to go 120 miles to get sick.

Remember away back about the first of the year when you made a New Year resolution? I just wanted to know if you remembered it.

You got to go away from home to get some information which you should acquire before you leave home. Found that out from Lyle Kelly, who sauntered into the Los Angeles Pacific Railway station while I was impatiently waiting for the 6:30 car. Kelly missed the 5:18 by about three minutes and I was there in ample time to get a ride back to Santa Ana, but let the car slide right out from under me. Kelly began to cross-examine me as to my time of arrival, and when I told him about 5:30 he looked at me sort of skeptical like and mumbled an "Um, hum." And all the time I had a perfectly good timetable but the 5:18 car was not registered in the schedule marked
"Sunday and holiday." That's why
I missed the car.

This custom of a special day for father may be O. K., but it sort of seems a little "mushy" to me. Guess that's because I've grown away from the sentiment and everything has become so real and serious. But if you want to throw in a little extra recognition and affection for "dad," I'm not opposed to it. What I would like to see most of all is father's day made so permanent that it would include every day, with such an affectionate understanding permeating the family circle that you could say, "Every day is father's day in this house."

Guy Gilbert has gone to Atlantic City to attend the Rotary International convention, and I've been expecting some cards from him showing bathing beauties. It will take that much evidence to convince me he is attending the convention. Any delegate can get a report out of the newspapers.

Frank Pierce, who persuades the congregation at the First Christian church to sing, has gone to Walla Walla to vocalize with the farm bureau. I suppose one of the favorite selections will be something about old man McDonald having a farm. Pierce appears as the enthusiasm for a local service club, and if you can't sing he'll make you try.

Ralph Smedley thinks I should have a poem for father's day, and suggested a poem from Mary Layton or somebody about making up a rhyme with a tie in it.
I believe Ralph is stringing me.
I've had a good tie for about a year. But maybe I need another one.

Floyd Stewart, who is substituting for Houdini, has a fire eating act. So far he hasn't called out the Luxembourg force, but it seems to me it's a winter rather than a summer performance.
After witnessing Stewart's control of fire I wondered what the devil would be able to do with him.

Passing the building at Fourth and Bush recently vacated by the Brooks Clothing Co. recalls those days when Clyde Ailing operated the old "Cherry Blossom," which was the headquarters for many movie stars of the silent screen days. When one of 'em came to town it was an event, and many a denizen sauntered into the cafe to get a glimpse of the stars.
Since then days there has been many an eclipse, both in business and stars.

Frank Pinkerton suggests that it would be appropriate to give the name of "Rice Alley" to the roadway running between the courthouse and the hall of records.
